Broken Plane And Its Pilot Found on Isle

Customs Men and Mounted Police Officers Locate Mysterious Machine at Rum-Runners' Rendezvous

Pilot Is Uninjured But Is Being Held

Small Powerboat Carrying Cases of Scotch Whisky Seized by Police Boat and Brought Into Victoria

LADY LUCK, the chameleon-like goddess at whose shrine all aeroplane pilots worship, was solely responsible for the downfall and the escape from injury of a visiting pilot whose plane crashed in the sea off Discovery Island Tuesday evening. The machine was forced down when the engine commenced to "konk," and, on striking the water, was overturned by the choppy sea. The pilot, who was brought to Victoria yesterday by customs house men, was shaken but unhurt. He is being held by immigration officials pending an investigation into the reasons behind his visit, and is facing two possible charges: entering Canada without proper papers, and flying an aeroplane in Canada without a licence.

Yesterday a customs boat, carrying local customs house officials and officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, made a trip to Discovery Island to investigate the reported crashing of a plane there. The machine and its pilot were found and arrangements were made to bring the plane, which was badly damaged when it turned turtle, into Victoria Harbor. It will arrive here sometime today.

Trip Made for Pleasure

Rumors which were circulated yesterday regarding voyages of a mysterious aeroplane to Discovery Island led to the belief that the crashed machine was a unit in the international "rum trade," but customs men could find no liquor aboard. The pilot, who claimed Seattle as his home, declared he had made the trip to Vancouver Island for pleasure only, and indignantly denied that he had

Six Prisoners Captured After Prison Escape

Men Make Break for Liberty in Launch at San Quentin —Clerk Carried Off as Hostage Shot

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 19.—Six convicts of the state prison here, taking B. O. Miller, prison shipping clerk, along as hostage, escaped in a small launch from the waterfront gang of the prison in a hail of bullets from two guard towers today, and were captured later at Malate Point on the Contra Costa County shore, three miles southeast of here.

Miller is near death in the Standard Oil Company hospital at Point Richmond from bullet wounds received when the tower machine guns were turned on the launch, and Guard George Grayson, who was slugged down by the escaping men, is in the prison hospital, also in a precarious condition.

Paul Luce, one of the escaped, sustained a shattered arm from machine gun bullets.

General's Policy Held Cause of Syrian Revolt

GENERAL SARRAIL

From Cairo The Times reports an interview with an exiled Druse chieftain, who attributed the present revolt—the sixth since 1919—to the refusal of General Sarrail, a French high commissioner, to harken to the Druse requests for reforms and for withdrawal of "hated local French officials."

Rodeo Show at Fair Proves a Big Attraction

Hundreds of Victorians Witness Great Exhibition of Fancy Riding, High Jumping and Broncho Busting

Special Events Tonight

HUNDREDS of Victorians received a thrill, which has been absent from this town for several years, when Peter Welsh and his party, along with "Strawberry Red" Wall and a bunch of rough riders entertained them last night at the Horse Show Building at an all-around exhibition of fancy riding, broncho busting, high jumping and trick riding.

Barra Lad, champion Canadian high-jumping horse, was probably the feature of the evening's programme, but there were several other turns which drew great applause from the packed stands. The work of "Strawberry Red" Wall, champion roper of last year's Wembley Exhibition, with the lariat, drew great applause at every turn. His roping of five running horses at the same time with one rope was one of his cleverest accomplishments, while his performances with Miss Rose Wall in the trick roping was admirably presented.

Soft Ground Is Handicap

Barra Lad's exhibition in high-jumping was indeed spectacular, al-

Jesse Mansfield Held by Police

Fugitive Rancher Suspected of Slaying—Shooting Held Culmination of Roadway Qurrell

NELSON, Aug. 19.—Provincial police headquarters here has been advised of the capture of Jesse Mansfield, suspected Elk Prairie killer, tonight.

Mansfield was arrested by Constable Smith of the provincial force, near the man's home. Covered by Mansfield's rifle, Constable Smith talked him into surrendering. Mansfield was brought out of the bush and taken by automobile under escort of Sergt. Greenwood, Constable Smith, Sergt. Hanna and Constable Gunn, of the R.C.M.P., to Fernie City jail, where is now confined.

FERNIE, B.C., Aug. 19.—George Whiting, Provincial Government road foreman, who was slightly wounded in the shoulder in yesterday afternoon's shooting affray at Elk Prairie when Jesse Mansfield, a rancher, shot up the road gang, was shot and instantly killed from ambush about five o'clock this afternoon, allegedly by Mansfield, who, since the shooting Tuesday, has been a fugitive in the mountains.

At the time Whiting was shot and killed he was traveling with his son in an automobile from Natal to his home. He was about half a mile from the house when, in passing through some wild bush country, Mansfield, it is said, suddenly emerged from hiding and shot him dead.

Ill-Feeling Suspected

The police believe bad feeling existed on Manafield's part against Whiting and the two Norstrums members of the road gang, as he made no attempt yesterday to harm any of the gang other than these three men.

Mansfield's hiding place has been passed several times during last night and today by police officers, but he made no attempt to molest them, apparently lying low until one of the men against whom he had a grudge should pass.

Provincial Police, Royal Canadian Mounted Police and a large number of armed specials have Mansfield's hiding place almost completely surrounded and his capture is expected soon.

From information received here this evening it appears that Mans-

Haste Is Shown by Government to Meet Demand of Mr. C. Woodward

Following Challenge to Premier Regarding Non-Recognition of Vancouver, Appointment of Cabinet Ministers Expected to Be Announced Next Week

The habit of Mr. Charles Woodward, senior Government member for the City of Vancouver, of demanding action on the part of Premier John Oliver and his Cabinet, is getting results. Recently he issued a manifesto, worded very much in the fashion of an ultimatum, that the Government must immediately take steps to solve the Pacific Great Eastern Railway problem, either by selling the road or extending it to Prince George and adopt an aggressive policy towards making the line pay dividends. Within a day or two, Premier Oliver issued a statement saying that the Government was taking action, and a few days later the Premier left on a week's inspection trip of the line. It is understood that the Government will introduce legislation at the approaching session of the House to authorise the completion of the road.

Mr. Woodward's latest move has been directed against the Government, and Premier Oliver and Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, in particular, because, as he charges, his colleagues in the Government have broken faith with him and with the people of Vancouver. In his letter to the Premier, published in The Colonist yesterday, he declared that Government promises, to promote two of the Terminal City members to Cabinet posts, had not been fulfilled. He demanded action on that score, and, from a statement made by Premier Oliver at Penticton yesterday, the Government is going to show much haste in making the appointments. Mr. Woodward also directed his criticism against Hon. T. D. Pattullo for his action, or lack of action, in connection with the watershed surrounding Vancouver's source of water supply, and suggested that the Hon. Mr. Pattullo should resign his office in favor of Vancouver Cabinet material.

The Official Counter

From information obtained at the Parliament Buildings yesterday the Government is exerting itself in strenuous fashion in order to appease the Vancouver senior member. Cabinet Ministers refused to make any direct comment on Mr. Woodward's letter to the Premier, but it was carefully explained that long before Mr. Woodward wrote his last explosive epistle, the Government had signified its desire to appoint two of the Vancouver members to Cabinet posts, Brig.-General Victor Odlum and Capt. Ian Mackenzie. When Premier Oliver returns to the Capital next week it is expected that he will immediately make an announcement of the Government's anxiety to meet Mr. Woodward's demands, and it is considered very probable that General Odlum and Capt. Mackenzie will be given the right to use the prefix "Hon." forthwith.

One thing the Government will not do, however, is to grant either of the two elevated members a portfolio. It has no desire to open one of the Vancouver seats for a by-election and all indications point to the wisdom of the Government's policy of holding on to what it has and taking no chances. It is very clearly recognised that an election in the Terminal City would prove disastrous for any Government candidate.

Secret of Strength

Evidently it is the Government's clear realization of the situation in Vancouver that causes it to fall over itself in its endeavor to satisfy Mr. Woodward. The senior member for

People Endangered On Drifting Ferry

Disaster Averted on Saskatchewan River When Homesteaders Go to Aid of Boat

SHANDRO, Alta., Aug. 19.—There was tremendous excitement along the banks of the Saskatchewan River, between Pakan and Shandro, for an hour or two when a ferry boat broke its cable and drifted down stream with three women, two men and a boy and two loaded teams on board. The ferry had just made the crossing at Pakan and was unloading its passengers when the accident occurred.

The Saskatchewan River is very high, and the current sweeps along at the rate of fifteen miles an hour. It was feared that a disaster might occur if the ferry struck a sand bar or bridge.

Between Pakan and Shandro the shouting of the passengers was heard by people living along the river and rescues were effected.

Canadian Ship Safe

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill., Aug. 19.—The Canadian steamship Arctic, which has been unheard from for the past thirty days and its whereabouts unknown, was reported anchored with all on board safe in Etah Harbor, Greenland, tonight.

Fair Attendance Is Much Larger Than Previous Year

THE receipts for the Provincial Fair show an increase of about 60 per cent on 1924, the figures being:

Paid admissions, Monday, 1924, $156.50; Monday, 1925, $500.60.

Paid admissions, Tuesday, 1924, $732; Tuesday, 1925, $1,111.

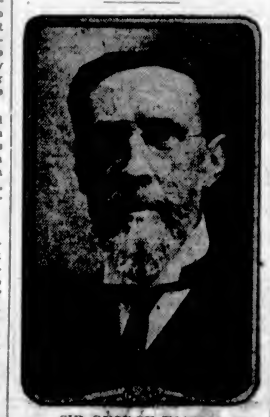

Paid admissions, Wednesday, 1924, $1,968; Wednesday, 1925, $2,850.

The number of paid admissions on Monday was 1,278, Tuesday 2,874, and Wednesday 7,070, making a total of 11,222. The estimate of the attendance Wednesday, paid and exhibitors' passes, with the race track crowd, is set at 18,000 by officials of the B. C. Agricultural Association.

Sir Geo. Foster Speaks in City On September 2

Noted League of Nations Advocate Will Address Public Gathering Here on "Canada and the Empire"

Canadian Club Auspices

SIR GEORGE FOSTER

RIGHT Hon. Sir George Foster, K.C.M.G., will give a public address in Victoria, Wednesday, September 2, on "Canada and the Empire," under the joint auspices of the Victoria Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs.

One of Canada's most distinguished orators, Sir George Foster has spoken in Victoria many times and his remarks, on whatever topic he has spoken, have been listened to with rapt attention by large audiences. He is recognized as a very eloquent speaker and one of the most prominent men in the Dominion today. He is an international figure.

Sir George, who formerly was Federal Minister of Commerce and is a member of the Canadian Senate, has had a wonderful career as one of the foremost statesmen of his time, and is in his 74th year. His vigor and eloquence have not suffered with his advancing years and his public utterances still command as wide an influence as in past years.

Victorians will recall Sir George Foster's addresses in Victoria on the League of Nations, when he toured the Dominion in the interests of the League of Nations Society. He spoke here at the annual convention of the Association of Canadian Clubs, as well as at a public gathering in the Metropolitan Church.

His Story Sounded Fine Until He Spoke of "Small Towns in Winnipeg"

VANCOUVER, Aug. 19.—J. Morris, charged with the theft of goods from a local clothing store, was telling a fairly plausible story to Magistrate J. Findlay until he declared that his father lived in a small town in Winnipeg, and the story exploded and was never finished.

The magistrate declared that he had lived ten years in Winnipeg, and had failed to find any small towns in it. Morris was remanded to Wednesday.

"It is a long time since I was there," he said, as the magistrate told him to step down from the witness box.

Miners Now Making Good On Gold Pan

Great Excitement General in Cassiar as Result of Recent Development on Discovery Creek

Dust and Nuggets Confound Skeptics

Prospectors Shovelling in Good Pay — Hydraulic Outfit Hopes to Make $350,000 Next Season

SEATTLE, Aug. 19.—A special to The Post-Intelligencer from Telegraph Creek, B.C., says: Reports of gold strikes in the vicinity of Shesley, at the head of the Whiting River district, have been greatly exaggerated. Your correspondent has just returned from a month's trip into the region, and I found nothing worth mentioning.

Elsewhere, however, the prospectors are meeting with better results. I am preparing to leave for the Clearwater district, where recent finds have been made of both quarts and placer gold.

Skeptics Disappearing

Great excitement reigns throughout the Cassiar mining district as the result of recent development on Gold Pan Creek. Skeptics are fast disappearing. Those who were formerly inclined to doubt now admit that Gold Pan will prove a pay creek, and that it may in the end rival Dease Creek as a producer.

In the last month 100 ounces of dust and nuggets have come to Telegraph Creek from three claims that have just been opened on Gold Pan. Bob Powers and his associates are shoveling in good pay. "They have recovered some coarse gold, the largest nugget weighing $31. They plan to continue working all Summer on Discovery Claim.

Getting $26 Nuggets.

Ford and Grady, the first ones to get to work, are in good pay, and even with a limited crew have taken out 120 ounces to date. They are getting coarse gold nuggets that range from fine dust to $26. Brun, Cook and Peyers have a lay on Nos. 1, 2 and 3 below, and are just beginning operations. They have been busy cutting and prospecting, and have the same rich pay streak that shows above them.

The Dickinson Mining Company continues in the pay and is making satisfactory progress. They will have a fair season this year and look for a big showing in 1926 on the famous California Bar on Dease Creek.

Hope to Take Out $350,000

Jack Blisk is the busiest man in the district. He is moving his big hydraulic plant out to diggings, and is building around from the landing of Laketon to his works, a distance of eight miles. He says that next season he will complete the installation of his plant and take out $350,000. These figures are based on the yardage he can move and the values shown in his Summer's prospecting.

Britain Is Cold To Meat Proposal

Government Will Not Adopt Economic Commission's Recommendation

LONDON, Aug. 19.—A statement issued tonight with Premier Baldwin's authority says that while the Government will carefully consider the Imperial Economic Committee's two reports, it cannot see its way to adopt the recommendations contained in the second report on the marketing of meat, issued tonight, advocating reconsideration of the legislation respecting the importation of livestock into the United Kingdom.

The statement says that the agriculture interests of the United Kingdom are today as definitely opposed to the extension of the existing system as they were in 1923, when the Imperial economic conference recognised that the British Government was fully entitled to have regard primarily to the interests of its own producers in this matter and confined its recommendations to advocating an inter-imperial trade in pedigreed stock in reciprocal terms. The Government has already given legislative effect to this recommendation.

Governor Inspects Memorial

EDMONTON, Aug. 19.—Governor-General Byng and Lady Byng spent Tuesday in the Fort Saskatchewan district, where his excellency inspected a soldiers' memorial, chatted with returned soldiers and old-timers, visited farms in the neighborhood and had lunch with Lord and Lady Rodney.

Citizens' Day Attracts Thousands To Grounds of Provincial Fair

Citizens' Day yesterday at the Fair carried the attendance figures for the first three days of the gathering nearly 100 per cent beyond the record of twelve months ago.

The improved musical arrangements, better lighting of the buildings and greater attractions all contribute to increase the popularity of the Fair on this occasion.

There is no question that the improved exhibits in all classes have answered the criticisms of the past and given a new stimulus to this association's shows in the public appreciation.

It has also demonstrated that another building will be needed to house the home-products display. The main building now is entirely wanted for horticultural exhibits, and as it was impossible to provide for a number of industrial and commercial exhibits the overflow would certainly fill another building near the entrance, as well as that devoted to that purpose.

The Automobile Show and the Stampede in the Horse Show Building are both features which deserve the large measure of support forthcoming, the former as an educational and utilitarian exhibit, the latter as a nightly attraction.

The grand parade of prize live-stock will take place at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Defective Boiler Held Cause of Thirty-Seven Excursion Ship Deaths

Explosion Toll May Reach Forty-Nine—Four Still Missing and Eight Others Not Expected to Recover —Victims Die Hourly—Investigation Started to Determine Whether Negligence Occasioned Disaster

Sinking of Larchmont Recalled; Same Master in Command of Ship

NEWPORT, R.I., Aug. 19.—Thirty-seven persons tonight had lost their fight for life, twenty-four hours after they had been enveloped in a flood of steam let loose when the boiler of the excursion steamer Mackinac exploded as she steamed through Narragansett Bay. Four others were missing and eight of more than a hundred injured were not expected to survive their burns.

The death list grew by the hour. Every attendant at the naval hospital where most of the victims were taken was on duty and worked ceaselessly. As many of the patients as could be removed were taken to the Newport hospital, where twenty-five volunteer nurses ministered to their needs.

The disaster, the worst in Rhode Island waters since the sinking of the Larchmont in 1907 with between 125 and 175 on board, was the direct result of a defective boiler, Assistant Attorney-General Oscar A. Heltzen told The Associated Press tonight.

Captain's Second Disaster

It was a coincidence that George McVey, captain of the Mackinac, also was captain of the Larchmont which sank after being rammed by a schooner during a blinding snowstorm.

Dr. Grisdale Praises Stock

Deputy Minister of Agriculture for Canada Visits Provincial Fair

The Provincial Exhibition, shows some features of distinct improvement, according to Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Federal Deputy Minister of Agriculture, who arrived here yesterday on a periodical tour of inspection of the department's interests on Vancouver Island.

Dr. Grisdale says the goat show is the outstanding feature of the live-stock. It is unquestionably the finest exhibit of those animals ever assembled in Canada, although, he explains, there formerly were excellent shows in some parts of Eastern Canada, particularly in London, Ont.

The livestock is good, in his judgment, particularly the Holstein cattle. He says, however, with all the fine dairy cattle on Vancouver Island, he is of opinion that local representation should be much more marked and the interest in the cattle classes stimulated thereby.

Other Features Praised

Dr. Grisdale is very pleased with the grain and root exhibits in the Main Building and in the great improvement made in the showing of vegetables during the past few years. Having just come from the Windermere Valley, he spoke of the potato display as a feature and said that the Windermere people are looking forward to a good potato crop this Fall.

On the whole, the deputy minister is greatly pleased with what he has seen at the Provincial Fair. He will visit the Experimental Farm at Sidney and has already conferred with officials of the Provincial Department of Agriculture on points of common interest between the two governments. In that connection Dr. Grisdale says he knows no part of Canada where the co-operation between officials of the federal and provincial departments is more satisfactory than in British Columbia.

His Recent Tour

The deputy minister is pleased with crop conditions in the Windermere and Kootenay sections and also in the Okanagan, where he has just visited. With him on this occasion is Mrs. Grisdale.

When director of experimental farms, he was a regular visitor here, but with the increased responsibilities of his present position his inspections are now forced to be less frequent. He expressed his satisfaction to learn that the increased usefulness of the Sidney Farm was being appreciated, his interest in that farm having been very close from its inauguration.

Rates Equalization Dubbed Camouflage By Vancouver Mayor

VANCOUVER, Aug. 19.—"Vancouver has no chance in the world of getting grain freight rates equalization," Mayor Louis D. Taylor declared today.

"The records show that the Government is camouflaging for political purposes the whole situation. The recent decision of the Supreme Court of Canada in the matter is law, but the order-in-council following that is merely propaganda."

Restive Forest Blazes Lulled To Sleep Again

Fires Disturbed by High Winds Again Under Control—Interior District Still Experiencing Danger

VANCOUVER, Aug. 19. — Forest fires in the Vancouver and Fraser Valley districts reported today have been fanned by high winds into renewed activity, were under control tonight, according to forestry officials. The most serious outbreak today was that which broke out last night on the premises of Deep Cove Logging Company, and which for a time this morning threatened the company's camp. This fire, which covered an area of 100 acres, was under control tonight.

Several big fires are smouldering in Westminster district, but none are giving the slightest trouble.

NELSON, Aug. 19.—Intense heat and rising winds today seemed to increase the fire hazard in the southern interior again and the forest branch is increasing its vigilance on the various fires as a precautionary measure. All fires are still controlled. One new one on the Ymir road near Nelson is reported. The boundary fires are being controlled in spite of the absence of rains.

Two fires at Fanny Bay were reported to the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway officials here yesterday. Neither was considered serious.

Nanaimo reports a fire at the head of Oyster Bay, clearly visible from that city.

Japan Will Join China Conference

Would Discuss Autonomy as Well as Tariff—Washington Agenda Likely to Stand

TOKIO, Aug. 19.—Japan has received an invitation to take part in a Chinese customs conference. The Foreign Office has indicated its willingness to discuss tariff economy at the present conference, and also has reiterated friendliness toward China, and intimated it would be willing to discuss autonomy at a later conference.

A new note has been received from Washington regarding the conference agenda, but the contents of this have not been published.

It is understood that Great Britain is holding strictly to an agenda in accordance with the Washington agreement, while America wishes to discuss various phases at the coming conference.

Japan has recently assumed the role of mediator between Great Britain and America, hoping some compromise will satisfy the demands and bring about discussion of autonomy and other questions later.

The present feeling is that the conference will be held strictly under the Washington agreement as to the agenda.

Mounted Police Officer Transferred to Winnipeg

Sergeant Martin who, for the last two years has been in charge of the Victoria detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, has been promoted to the Winnipeg headquarters of the department, and leaves Sunday for his new station. The Victoria command will be taken over by Sergeant J. R. Patea, M.C., of Vancouver, who has already arrived in the city.

Sergeant Martin was posted to the Victoria detachment two years ago, coming here from the Kamloops office. He has made many friends in the Capital City who, while regretting his departure, are glad to hear of his promotion.

Millions Lost in Vienna Disorders

Disturbances Over Zionist Congress Cause Property Loss of $3,000,000

VIENNA, Aug. 19.—Notwithstanding the efforts of the authorities to keep down disorders during the holding of the Zionists' congress here, the anti-Semitic Haikenhreusler continues to make trouble. Last night there were renewed attacks on persons suspected of being Jews. The persons attacked were badly manhandled. Some arrests were made.

Hotels, bars and stores put up their shutters early to preserve their plate glass windows and to keep out looters.

The loss to the city caused by the disturbances which have broken out in connection with the congress of the Zionist organization is estimated at $3,000,000.

U.S. Natural History Expedition Ordered to Leave by Mongolians

URUGA, Mongolia, Aug. 19. — The Mongolian Government has ordered the third Asiatic expedition of the American Museum of Natural History, under the leadership of Roy Andrews, to cease its exploration and scientific work and leave Mongolian territory, alleging that Mr. Andrews has violated the terms of his agreement with Mongolian scientific organizations.

The Mongolian Government further alleges that, besides carrying out his scientific work in the domaine of paleontology, geology and zoology, Mr. Andrews' expedition has also engaged in topographical work and has employed a number of suspicious—in a military sense—persons.

Mr. Andrews also is accused of carrying on political propaganda and stirring up the Mongolians against the Red Bolsheviks.

Home Display At Fall Fair Is Attractive

Building Allotted to This Department Too Small to Accommodate All the Displays Made by Local Firms

All Showings Prove Most Creditable

Inspection Will Show Progress Made Industrially During Last Year—Useful Household Articles

The Home Products section of the Victoria Exhibition was in excellent shape yesterday. All the exhibitors had their spaces well filled and ready for inspection. The building, which is the first reached on entering the grounds, is an educational factor, showing what Greater Victoria is producing to meet the demands of the public. The displays made this year are especially home products, although space has been given in a few instances to goods that could be otherwise classified.

The Hoover Vacuum Cleaner has a very artistic space allotted to it in this building, being displayed by the Hudson's Bay Company, the sole distributors of the article in the city. Draped in purple plush the cosy corner that has been created is emblematic of good housekeeping and with that naturally goes the Hoover Vacuum Cleaner.

Lumber Exhibit

The Canadian Puget Sound Lumber and Timber Company exhibit manufactured goods from the works. Dressed lumber, in many instances stain grained in order to show the native fir wood to advantage, is utilized in the manufacture of panelling and doors. Shingles are on exhibition of the high quality maintained by the company in all its work.

Mackay & Gillespie have an artistic showing to display the advantages of using Comox coal. The motto of the firm is blazoned on the entrance to the space: "We make a clean job of a dirty business."

Nag Paints

Williams & Harte, Ltd., display "Nag" paints and the various materials that enter into the manufacture of them. Barrels of oils and other liquids used in paint making and mixing are arranged about the place, and there is also shown various lines of brushes and auxiliaries used in painting. Antimo White is on exhibition, described as better than any pure white lead.

Mr. James McMartin, "Victoria's Exclusive Leather Goods," has made a very complete display. Here is shown every variety of trunk that may be called into requisition in travelling. In addition to this, hand bags are shown in many forms and suited to the most fastidious tastes.

But it is not in these goods alone that the firm specializes. There are other leather articles used about the home that are on exhibition. The display made by Mr. McMartin is indeed an attractive one.

Shelly's Bread

Shelly's have a very attractive showing. In the centre at the back is a display of the materials used in the making of the famous brand of bread which automatically comes into view alternately with the finished product, the loaves of bread. This is all shown through a gauze screen which depicts the factory of the company. The design was awarded a gold medal at the Vancouver Exhibition.

About the walls of the space are shown in picture the various operations connected with the making of bread and confectionery. In front stands a case well filled with cakes made by the firm.

Butter cookies as samples of what the firm make a specialty of are given away to the public from the front of the exhibit.

Old B & K Brand

The Brackman-Ker Company has expended a lot of labor upon its exhibit shown in the main building. Special lighting effects have been provided, and the name of the company is prominently flashed out over the space. The endless lines of B & K products in flour, rolled oats and other allied materials are well displayed in original packages either in cotton sacks, paper bags or cartons.

Prominent among the displays on the walls of the space is the diploma won by the company at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition. About the space and acting as a very effective trimming are sheaves of natural grains that enter into the products for which Brackman & Ker are famous.

The display does not forget the part which the firm plays in connection with the poultry business. An incubator has its place in the exhibit and there are also displayed many varieties of feed for poultry and other classes of livestock.

A. E. Taylor's Display

Messrs. A. E. Taylor & Co. occupy considerable space in the northwest corner of the Home Products Building. Prominent in this display is the exhibit of White Rotary sewing machine. Alongside of this is the exhibit of 1900 Cataract Washers and the White Cap Washer made by Beatty Bros., the world famous Canadian manufacturers in these lines. The machines are shown in action, so that the prospective buyer has the opportunity of seeing exactly how the work is carried out.

Auxiliaries to the washing operations, such as ironing boards, stands, baskets, are all on exhibit here.

Adjoining the space allotted to the washing exhibit is a very attractive space in which appear under the charge of the same company a display of framed pictures, etc.

Lemon Gonnason

Lemon Gonnason Company, Ltd., in the central part of the building has an attractive space enclosed in rustic construction, showing the natural wood with the bark attached. Inside the finished products of the factory are on exhibition.

Local shingles and other wooden material used by the company are all to be seen, while there also appears alongside of it the Flexstone asbestos roofing of the Johns-Manville Company, which is handled by the local company.

The B.C. Foot Hospital, a local institution, has an attractive corner with walls beautifully decorated, where the sufferer from foot troubles can learn all about his ailments.

Boat House Products

Messrs. Rodd Bros., George Boat House, have on exhibition, in the space taken by them, examples of their handiwork in the manufacture of boats. There are also shown excellent samples of oars and paddles that have been made at the works.

Messrs. Rennie & Taylor, makers of Butter-Nut Bread, have expended a lot of attention upon their exhibit. A large picture in the back ground, "Who said Butter-Nut," depicts the ending of a picnic by Brer Bear invading the place attracted by Butter-Nut Bread.

H. E. Grimson shows locally made automobile gears, made to order, and dies for cutting sheet metal.

The Anti-Krust Boiler fluid and its advantages are shown in a small exhibit made by Goddard & Co., of Sidney.

Main Building

In the Main Building there are a number of the local exhibitors showing, there being insufficient space available in the Home Products Building.

The W. A. Jameson Coffee Company show a wide variety of goods bearing their well-known label. Vanart is prominently placed to the front with the explanation that it is like vanilla, only nicer.

The Singer Sewing Machine has a complete exhibit of its machines, with work which can be done on them. Fancy sewing and various lines of ornamental work are all shown to advantage.

Royal Dairy Products

The Royal Dairy gives a practical demonstration of the quality of its output in a stand well located in the building. Ice cream sandwiches and ice-cold milk are procurable at the stand, and with the warm weather conditions prevailing, proves a boon to the many visitors at the Fair.

The Alaska Silver Fox Company has on exhibit a pair of Mr. W. B. Morrison's animals from Gordon Head. These were raised by Mr. W. Hughes of Elk Lake.

Nurseries Aid With Displays

Very Artistic and Educative Exhibits Made by Local Professional Firms

The displays made by the local professional nursery houses at the Fair do credit alike to the houses represented, and to the locality as a place for growing nursery stock. The exhibits made by the firms have attracted a great deal of attention and most favorable comment.

At the entrance to the main building Brown's Victoria Nurseries have a most artistic display of flowers that gives the visitor an exceedingly favorable idea on his introduction to the premises. Set among fernery are shown 130 distinct varieties of dahlias grown by the firm. These range from pure white to what could almost be classified as black. At the back of the display are massed artistically gladioli, begonias, and other flowers.

Immediately in rear of this is the wonderful display of the Layrits Nurseries. This is essentially a commercial exhibit in fruit, and shows the tremendous number of varieties of fruit that attains perfection here. These are packed according to the most approved methods used by careful shippers and a more tempting collection of Fall fruits could not well be conceived as possible of production.

In front of this collection have been displayed a fine showing of roses grown by the firm. Around the stand which supports the display are local fruits on the branch taken direct from the tree, with the ripened product as it grew.

Flewin's Gardens have exhibited a specially attractive collection of dahlias taken from their gardens. These have all been named, and are arranged so that the visitor to the fair is able fully to inspect and at the same time secure the name of the variety on exhibition.

The vibrations were continuing at 8:56. The distance from Toronto to the disturbances is estimated at 4,706 miles, possibly in a southeasterly direction.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with ordinary digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no overdose or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Blue-Sky Laws May Be Favored

Legislation Depends on Outcome of Conference to Be Held at Winnipeg

The possibility of the Government seeking "blue sky" legislation was voiced yesterday by Attorney-General Manson.

"I understand that Mr. Thomas Mulvey, Under-Secretary of State for Canada, purposes conferring with representatives of the Western Provinces at Winnipeg on the occasion of the meeting of the Canadian Bar Association in respect to 'blue sky' legislation, and I have instructed Mr. A. V. Pineo, our legislative counsel, to attend the conference," Mr. Manson said.

"British Columbia has no 'blue sky' laws at present," he added. "The advisability of passing such laws has been considered by all attorney-generals since Mr. Bowser's time. This Province anticipated the possibility of an adverse decision on such legislation such as has now been actually given by the Supreme Court of Canada in the case of Lukey vs. the Ruthenian Farmers' Elevator Company, Limited, a case arising out of Saskatchewan's 'blue sky' law.

"We, however, have taken other measures which are calculated to protect the public in connection with some company promotions. My colleague, the Minister of Mines, scrutinises all mining promotions and has them reported upon by his district mining engineers. He avails himself of the clauses of the Mineral Survey and Development Act to compel promoters strictly to adhere to the facts in advertising matter and in prospectuses. This, however, does not completely prevent shrewd and dishonest promoters from defrauding the public, but it has proved a salutary safeguard.

"If the conference at Winnipeg results in the exact defining of Federal and provincial fields and in Federal legislation at the next session of Parliament, we in B.C. would then consider the wisdom of putting further legislation on our statute books. Until such an agreement is arrived at and such legislation passed, 'blue sky' legislation here would be futile."

Auction Sale to Restore Values, Mr. Austin Says

Auctioneer Who Will Sell City's Reverted Lands Declares That Americans Are Coming to Buy Lots

Ald. Todd Praises Project

The auction sale which will be held in this city shortly will restore real estate values and inspire confidence in the future of Victoria, Mr. Charles S. Austin, who will conduct the sale of reverted lands by public auction, told members of the Victoria Real Estate Board yesterday at noon, in the Chamber of Commerce.

Encouragement which has been given to the auction sale both from outside sources and locally had been very strong, and there was no doubt that the project would be the making of Victoria, Mr. Austin said. He pointed out that he knew of a number of Americans who were coming from the United States to Victoria for the special purpose of buying property at the auction sale.

The speaker informed the realtors that a party of seven was coming to this city from Los Angeles to purchase lots here on the day of the auction. He also told of a syndicate of small-moneyed buyers being organized at the present time, and contended that their faith in the city's future was of a fine sort when they were investing practically all their means in the city's lands.

Seeks Realtors' Co-operation

Mr. Austin thanked members of the Real Estate Board for their generous kindness and co-operation in the past, and asked for a continuance of the same in connection with the city auction sale. "If you members can bring a buyer from any outside points I will gladly give you half of my commission. Quite apart from any monetary interest in the auction's success, my faith in Victoria will prompt me to use my best efforts on the city's behalf," he concluded.

Ex-Alderman Leeming urged all members of the board to give their practical support to the auction by at least making a bid for one lot. He predicted it was a certainty that any lot bought at the auction would double in value within a short while. He said that purchase of lots would be not only of benefit to the city but would prove of advantage to the buyers.

"Absolutely Sold" on Sale

That he was "absolutely sold" on the matter of the auction sale, was Alderman Todd's declaration. He had praise for the "pay as you go" policy which the city has practised during the last several years. The city was gradually paying off its debt on the wonderful public improvements in Victoria, and was now not borrowing a five-cent piece. Expenses of recent improvements were paid out of current revenue.

"It is only a matter of another two or three years when we will see a definite marked improvement each year toward a reduction in taxation—that is a certainty," Alderman Todd said.

Victoria real estate men will do all in their power to assist in making the auction sale of 150 reverted lands of the city a great success.

Island Grows Best Gladioli

Mr. R. M. Palmer, of Cowichan Bay, Has One of Greatest Gardens of Kind

To very few it is known that within easy reach of the city the finest collection perhaps of gladioli in the world is blooming. The garden of Mr. R. M. Palmer, at Cowichan Bay, boasts this proud distinction. There are about 150 varieties under cultivation by Mr. Palmer. Visitors to the exhibition at the Willows should not neglect inspecting his display there, which includes about 65 different kinds of this flower drawn from his gardens.

Mr. Palmer is well-known in this city, where he lived for years when holding an official post in the Department of Agriculture. His invasion of the field of producing the gladioli was in a sense accidental. It developed out of a little fad he had for raising the flower when he went to live at Cowichan Bay, and the hobby grew on him.

He found himself enmeshed by the desire to extend the number of varieties of the plant that he could produce, with the result that he began enlisting all parts of the world in obtaining them. His many friends can readily conceive that having once launched out in this field it would be with an intense application he would pursue it.

Drew From Abroad

Practically every continent has furnished its quota of bulbs and price has not stood in the way of obtaining them. In some instances Mr. Palmer paid for a single bulb a price that would sound more like that paid for a good horse or a cow.

Some of the bulbs have had their origin in Africa where, within the range of the dripping spray of the Victoria Falls of the Zambesi River, the plants adapted themselves by altered formation of the flower to protect the sensitive parts from the ever-falling water.

Enters World's Trade

And now Mr. Palmer, in turn having found that this part of the world produces the very best bulbs and is adapted for the commercial side of the business, is entering the world's trade as a seller of gladioli bulbs. He is already selling in China, where the flower is very popular and also in other parts of the world. In the matter of cut flowers he is also finding a market beyond the province and is invading the Prairies with some of the best shipping varieties.

Half Million Worth Of Furs Auctioned

First Two Days of Winnipeg Sale Witness Disposal of Pelts Valued at $473,000

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19.—The aggregate value of furs disposed of during the first two days of the fur auction sales here tonight stood at $473,000. Today's offerings included marten, otter, skunk, badger, beaver, white fox, cross fox and red fox. White fox brought from $28 to $36 for average lots, a price almost on a par with that obtained at the last fur auction sale. Cross fox ruled higher than the last sale by about 10 per cent.

A good collection of red fox formed the major offerings at the afternoon session, and sold at anaverage of 10 per cent higher than the last sale, with Eastern buyers doing the purchasing. Prices ranged from $10 to $19.50 on average lots. Lower grades sold at from $3 to $6.

WATFORD, Ont., Aug. 19.—Watford's oldest resident, Mrs. Mary Janes Stapleford, yesterday celebrated the hundredth anniversary of her birth at the family residence here, surrounded by her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Ald. Clearihue Rushes From Holiday Retreat To City for Meeting

His presence in Victoria being in such great demand, Ald. Joseph B. Clearihue was yesterday summoned to the city from his holiday retreat at Shawnigan Lake.

In order to insure the final passing of the by-law to validate the holding of the sale of the city's reverted properties by public auction, nine members of the City Council in favor of the measure must be present at this morning's special council session at the City Hall at 10 o'clock.

If Ald. Clearihue were not present at today's meeting there is a possibility that the by-law might not pass its final reading, in which event the measure would have to be submitted to the vote of the people.

To thwart any such likelihood Ald. Percy R. Brown yesterday motored to Shawnigan Lake and brought Ald. Clearihue back with him to the city.

Accidents Will Happen Unless Speeding Stops

City Engineer Preston Issues Warning to Motorists and Cyclists Approaching Johnson Street Bridge

Unless speeding on the approaches to the Johnson Street Bridge is stopped, there is a strong likelihood of dangerous accidents occurring in the near future, City Engineer Frank M. Preston told a Colonist representative yesterday at the City Hall.

City Engineer Preston asserted that he was commenting upon this matter in the interests of the public themselves. What might have proven very serious mishaps have luckily been averted recently on the bridge. Motorists and cyclists should drive towards the Johnson Street Bridge at a lower rate of speed than has been the practice of the majority, or else risk the possibility of dropping into the water below.

Several motor cars had crashed into the railing of the bridge lately, while one car coming to the city approached the bridge and just succeeded in getting on to it as the latter had been lowered to a horizontal position after having been raised high into the air to permit a boat to pass under it.

Mr. Preston pointed out that signals were always given, and bells rung when the bridge was going to open, and that if motorists would not speed along the pavement they would be able to stop in ample time before reaching the bridge.

"The city, of course, could," he said, "put up gates that would absolutely prevent any cars from passing on the bridge when it was being raised into the air, but these gates would cost between $35,000 and $40,000, and would result in an increase to the city taxes. This can be avoided if motorists will only drive more slowly at this part of the highway in their own interest," Mr. Preston observed.

Protest Is Made Against Granting Funeral License

Land Owners Near Corner of Quadra and Broughton Streets Oppose Establishment of Undertakers There

Council to Hear Protest

Vigorous protest against a proposal that the city grant a licence to Mr. S. J. Curry to establish funeral parlors on the southwest corner of Quadra and Broughton Streets was made yesterday at the City Hall by the legal firm of Wooton & Wooton, representing the estate of Eliza Wooton, deceased, Dr. Hermann Robertson and Mr. William Neal, owners of property adjoining and near the suggested premises for an undertaking concern.

The City Council, at its meeting Monday night, decided to place the premises on the southwest corner of Quadra and Broughton Streets, immediately opposite the old Cemetery, at the disposal of Mr. Curry for a funeral parlor, in the event of Mr. Curry declining to accept the property on Pandora Street, between Blanshard and Quadra Streets, and formerly occupied as an undertaking establishment by Messrs. Hanna & Thompson.

Mayor Pendray pointed out yesterday that Mr. Curry had rejected the offer of the Pandora Avenue property, but was willing to accept the site on the corner of Quadra and Broughton Streets.

"Now owners near this property are up in arms over the possibility of the city granting a licence to Mr. Curry to conduct business there. While I have not thought what recommendation, if any, I might make to the Council on the matter, I feel that it might not be a bad thing if we asked the property owners who are protesting to pick Mr. Curry out another site that would prove suitable," he said.

The City Council is meeting in special session this morning at 10 o'clock to give final reading to the auction sale validation by-law, and this communication from Messrs. Wooton & Wooton will be placed before the Council for consideration.

Realtors Extend Congratulations To City Council

Mr. James Forman Urges City to Exercise Discretion in Use of Increased Power of Water Facilities

Raps "Ultimatum" Story

The Victoria Real Estate Board yesterday, at its luncheon at noon in the Chamber of Commerce, extended congratulations to the city upon its acquisition of the Esquimalt waterworks undertaking.

Mr. Alfred Carmichael, who sponsored a resolution that the Board express its appreciation of the City Council's action, considered that the city had made one of the finest moves in its history in securing possession of the waterworks.

"People who are dissatisfied with the city's action will in ten years' time rise up and call the City Council blessed," Mr. Carmichael asserted. He believed that title to all water on the southern end of Vancouver Island should be under one authority.

In seconding the motion, Mr. James Forman expressed the hope that while the city had obtained increased power in the matter of water, it would exercise that power with great discretion.

"The scare line in the evening paper, several days ago, concerning the Saanich water bill, was not conducive to an era of good feeling between the city and that municipality. In fact, it would prove greatly to our discredit if we even thought of taking such an arbitrary step," Mr. Forman said.

Alderman Todd stated frankly that he did not know of one person in the City Hall who had intended shutting off the water to Saanich if the latter had not paid its bill.

FEARS THE PLUNGE

If Premier King were not such a dignified gentleman and important figure, he might be compared with the small boy shivering on the brink of the old swimming hole. He hates to take the plunge, for the political waters are very much troubled, and there are shallow places in them which contain rocks.

There is no doubt whatever that it was the intention of the Premier, who is the ultimate authority according to statements of his colleagues and supporters, to dissolve Parliament and appeal to the constituencies at the earliest and possibly the most favorable time. But while the First Minister hesitated things happened that disquieted the hearts of his supporters, and now he is being importuned to keep Parliament alive for another year and hold another session. The political conditions as portrayed by the signs of the times are so bad that they cannot be worse. If as a result of an abundant harvest prosperity descends upon the land, the people may forget their grievances, and their hearts may become soft and less hostile to the Government.

On the other hand, there is the historical fact to be considered that no Government of Canada which postponed an election until an election became constitutionally imperative, survived the ordeal at the polls. Then the Government must be reconstructed and there will be four by-elections to be held and nine Senate vacancies to be filled if dissolution is postponed, further sources of embarrassment. Consequently the situation is very perplexing and very complex, and the Premier stands shivering on the brink.

ONE JACK HOBBS

Cable dispatches tell us that Jack Hobbs, a name which implies that Jack is descended from fine old English stock, has gained rare distinction in the realm of cricket, and cricket is a fine old English game. Hobbs has made so many runs in batches of one hundred or over during his cricketing career that he has established himself as the greatest batsman of this or any other age.

The achievement of Jack Hobbs may not be considered a matter of great importance to people who are wrestling with hard problems bequeathed to them by the war, but anything that interests and entertains the people, relieving the monotony of the lives of multitudes of them, is of great importance.

Cricket is the most popular of all the Summer pastimes of England. It is played under the most attractive of conditions by thousands of men of all ages and all social conditions.

And the spirit of the game is probably the finest feature of it. Its ethical code is as noble as that of any of the schools of culture. That code has influenced the lives of men of the British race wherever they have gone, and there are few parts of the earth into which they have not gone, carrying the spirit of fair and honorable dealing with them, playing the game and inoculating in others the spirit of the game.

We are told that Jack Hobbs, the champion cricketer, is in character as well as in physical capacity worthy of the great honor he has won. Although ranking as a professional, he is in all essential qualities a gentleman. There are no longer any class distinctions on the English cricket grounds, we are told, but if there are any common people over there now, they all love grand old Jack Hobbs; and if there are still a remnant of the uncommon people, they delight to honor one who so truly typifies English cricket, the most attractive of all games played with bat and ball.

The Colonist, published in this remote part of the British Empire, where cricket has been played since the old colonial days, and where it still flourishes, conveys its congratulations to Jack Hobbs on his achievement and to the English people on their champion.

INCREASE IN CRIME

The warden of San Quentin Penitentiary tells the world that his three hundred guests (in any other country they would be called convicts), are delighted with the music of the jazz band that has been engaged to entertain them when they are partaking of the simple repasts provided for their inner men by the State. The "inmates" of the prison are said to be glad that their lots have been cast in such pleasant places. They are even said to be pleased at the thought that at last authority is beginning to realize the importance of the vital truth that criminality is not a vice that should be punished but a virtue that should be rewarded.

In the meantime we note that certain men in the State of New York, men who are not in authority and therefore are not progressive in their ideas, are alarmed about the increase of crime in the United States and are talking about taking active and stringent measures to suppress it. Those men of old-fashioned notions have suggested that the police authorities shall be more active and enterprising in the discharge of their duties, that lawbreakers shall be apprehended as speedily as possible and dealt with by the courts as summarily as possible after they are apprehended. They have even suggested the lash for lawbreakers of a certain class and the scaffold for lawbreakers of a more enterprising class. They do not believe that tender treatment of murderers, coddling them when they are in jail and endeavoring to arouse their higher emotions by the music of bands, will convert them from the error of their homicidal ways.

Criminologists of the modern school have had their day in the United States, and the results are manifest. An experiment of another kind would be interesting, and could not produce worse results. The old-fashioned idea was that punishment should fit the crime and that the punishment should be inflicted as speedily as the law would allow. Under a proper system of administration of justice it is not the hapless lot of the unfortunate lawbreaker that should be the supreme consideration; it is the safety of society that is first in importance. The law is not an agent of a vendetta. It is not an instrument for the execution of acts of vengeance. Its functions are strictly protective.

AN EXCUSABLE ERROR

"Diogenes," a journalist of long experience and great distinction, and a literary man of no little distinction, says in one of his contributions to The Vancouver Province that the Scots of that city are raising a fund to provide for the erection in a public place of a statue of Robert Burns. In his comment upon the action of the Vancouver Scots, "Diogenes" pays a handsome tribute to the genius of the poet, and highly commends the enterprise of the poet's admirers. But if the contributor to The Province were to take a trip down to Victoria and a stroll through Beacon Hill Park, if he were lucky he might stumble upon a statue of Robert Burns and Highland Mary, and then he would realize that if a statue of the poet be erected in Vancouver it would not be the first statue of that kind to be set up on the Pacific Coast. We have had a statue of Burns in Victoria for a great many years, but we do not know that "Diogenes" is greatly to be blamed for his mistake. Our statue is not imposing in its proportions. It is somewhat overshadowed in its dimensions by the pedestal upon which it stands. That is a defect which should be corrected, and we believe it shortly will be corrected.

Fishery officials of the State of Washington are reported to be making notes of the annual run of humpback salmon. If the fishery officials of the State would make a note of the sockeye run, if there are any sockeye left to run, they might find material for interesting comment. Trap fishermen of the Sound have practically killed the sockeye fishing industry in these waters; but some of them made a few millions of dollars while the exterminating process was proceeding, and why should the death of an important industry be weighed in the balance against such a fact as that? Besides, the sockeye salmon was at one time the raw material of an important Canadian industry. As Sir Harry Lauder asks, "Why say more?"

The Vancouver Province, rebuking a contemporary and displaying a breadth of view which is creditable and a spirit which is commendably generous, says: "We can rejoice that Prince Rupert shipping is developing, that Victoria is securing a drydock and an elevator, that Prince George gets another big lumber mill, that new settlers come into Central British Columbia, Kootenay and the Okanagan. Only by these means will the country be built up."

The Latvian Republic, a State born of the Great War, has decided to pay off the loan it received from Great Britain. Latvia is not a very large country, but it has set a very worthy example to larger and more important nations which also have borrowed money from Great Britain. If they would all pay up, the circumstances of Britain would immediately be materially improved.

Many Prussians are taking advantage of the applied science of the renowned chemists of Germany. Fifteen citizens of Berlin committed suicide during the course of one day this week. They all inhaled poisonous gas, and they all appeared to be in destitute circumstances. The conditions in Germany do not appear to be very attractive as yet.

A Negro convict has been invited by the Soviet Government of Russia to lead a revolution of the colored people of the United States and put down the cursed Imperialism of America. The Soviet displays some discrimination in its choice of instruments. However, the colored people of the United States are somewhat particular about the company they keep.

The French are always just about to begin a great offensive against the Riffs. The Americans are always just about to begin a great offensive against murderers, bandits and bootleggers.

Re Ex-Service Organizations

Sir,—Referring to the letter of Major F. V. Longstaff in today's Colonist regarding the effort that appears to be on foot to organize the unorganized ex-service men in this city, in connection with Earl Haig's scheme of amalgamation, I somewhat regret that the opportunity is being seized upon to boost the advantages of one association as against another, which Major Longstaff attempts to do. I do not for one moment think that he does this wilfully, but as the Army and Navy Veterans' Association has delegates upon the Victoria Unity Committee, it would, in my opinion, be better for the associations represented upon that committee to do everything possible to bring about a united organization in Canada, and then should there be one or more branches, or posts of that united body in this city, as I am afraid there will be, these posts can in a friendly way engage in a membership campaign.

At the present moment it will be recognised that nothing is to be gained by any of the associations in Victoria claiming superiority over one another. All the various bodies have been carried on with the best intentions. They have in their own way done a vast amount of good, the only fault being that their efforts were not of a united description, and we hope to have this state of affairs remedied by the formation of a united Dominion body, under which all posts will work in accordance with one constitution.

When the united Dominion organization comes into being, if we are not successful in having the existing branches of the present Dominion associations come together in one post in each city, then we will have several posts of the united organization in each of the larger cities, and as organised men we have no right to say that the unorganised men should join any one of these posts unless they so desire, although they should be offered every assistance and encouragement to do so.

If it comes about that we are to have several posts of the Dominion organisation in Victoria, then there is nothing to prevent any number of unorganized men getting together and forming a post, should they wish to organize in that way, although of course great care should be taken to make certain that nothing is done that will require to be undone when amalgamation is consummated.

Milking the Canadian Cow

Sir,—While enjoying a visit to your wonderful island I have been deeply impressed both by the scenic splendors and the commercial resources, especially timber, of this part of Canada.

To my mind, we in Canada have a great responsibility towards our forests to see that they are preserved from any wilful or wanton damage on the one hand and to ensure that if used for commercial purposes the most rigid supervision be enforced. After a most delightful trip up the Island Highway over the Malahat Drive, which in itself was worth coming many miles to see, I was much interested in the preparations now being made at Chemainus for the building of one of the largest lumber mills on the continent. I was disappointed, however, to hear that it was only one more American enterprise in this country. Now we cannot blame American capitalists for developing our resources in this country if we are too lacking in energy and enterprise to develop them ourselves, but after all one would like to know what benefit we in Canada are likely to reap from this undertaking. If an American company is behind this project all dividends earned will naturally go to the United States. I am told a similar company, not far from Vancouver, with an outlay of three-and-a-half million dollars, succeeded in cleaning up no less than sixteen million dollars in the last seven years. A large percentage of the lumber manufactured at the Chemainus mill will no doubt find its way to the United States too, on which there is no export duty, I understand. And lastly, to my amasement, I am informed that the labor employed will in all probability be imported from the same country.

Now, Sir, if this is not milking the Canadian cow to the owner's disadvange I would like to know what is. I hope to hear that the price paid the Government for the timber concessions involved will at least do something to reduce taxation, if only a trifle, in this country, and that adequate steps will be taken by the Forestry Department of the Federal Government towards reforestation of the depleted areas concerned. What British Columbia by Victoria will get out of the deal I fail to see. Once destroy the scenic beauty of the Island, Victoria's tourist trade will come to a standstill. People will not come to Vancouver Island to be driven through miles and miles of desolate stumps and bare rocks such as you find in Western Ontario.

Then as regards the labor problem at Chemainus, where they expect to employ upwards of two thousand or more men, considering the unemployment from which we have been suffering all through Canada since the War, surely common sense and ordinary fairness demand that residents of Canada, and especially ex-service men, be given the first chance of employment in this great undertaking. It should be as far as possible a Canadian payroll.

In looking at the matter from a higher standpoint, are we not penalising the next generation by allowing our heritage to be exploited for a questionable temporary advantage? I am quite aware that the incident I have mentioned is only typical of conditions we are more and more tending towards in this country today. Following the simile of the cow, unless we bestir ourselves soon we shall wake up one morning to find that not only has the cream of our natural resources disappeared as in the night but the cow and the farm gone too, with only the skim milk left for Canada to enjoy.

What we need in Canada is not so much a change of Government as a change of spirit and outlook in all her citizens, the same spirit that animated the pioneers and early settlers of this country with that courage, resource and loyalty that have ever characterised the British race at its best. We shall never remain a great people if we calmly sit down to smoke our pipes and water our front gardens as if all were well. Empire was never won like that and will never be retained so. Young Canada needs to sit down for awhile and do a little hard thinking to revise her sense of values, to recall her traditions, and, above all, to rekindle the spirit of true religion once more. Kipling's "Recessional" comes instinctively to mind as one surveys our goodly heritage from one of our mountain slopes.

"Gold of our fathers known of old,
Lord of our far-flung battle line,
Beneath Whose awful hand we hold
Dominion over palm and pine:
Lord God of Hosts, be with us yet,
Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Livestock at Fair Attains To High Rank

Beef and Dairy Herds of Cattle Represented at Fair This Year Are Among Best Ever Exhibited Here

Whole West Represented

Victoria has usually had an excellent showing of livestock at its Fall Fair. This year has proved one of the very best in this line ever exhibited. The cattle department, with stock drawn from all parts of the Pacific Northwest, attracts the visitor perhaps more than any other section of the livestock show. The educational exhibit on display by the Dominion Government Department of Agriculture is notable. Located in the cattle building the type of animals of various kinds for which there is a demand are exhibited affording the practical farmer an opportunity to breed to advantage.

In the cattle building Prairie exhibitors have splendid showings of the Herefords, the popular range cattle owing to the marked ability of them to rustle for a living, and to put on fat if given a chance. H. Hyslop & Son, of the Spruce Lawn Farm of Killarny, Man., have a fine herd of this breed. Boggs & Son, of Daysland, Alberta, are showing in the same variety with a herd of about 35 choice animals of all ages.

The Aberdeen Angus class is represented by a showing from the Glencarnock Farm. This herd exhibits a great collection of trophies carried off at various fairs in the Northwest.

Shorthorns Popular

Among the beef breeds the ever-popular Durham or Shorthorn is well represented. Among the exhibitors is Mr. J. D. McGuire, of Tenino, Washington, who has some beautiful roan-colored animals among his herd.

The Hercules Shorthorns, owned by Mr. F. M. Rothrock, of Sprague, Wash., are also represented with a good showing. Amos & Black, of Moffatt, Ont., exhibit a complete selection of pure bred stock in this kind. The herd is diversified as to color, and they have pure whites, roans and some beautiful reds in the lot shown here. Mr. McLoughy has a smaller showing in this class.

Dairy Classes

Among the dairy varieties there is a very complete showing of the different breeds. Among these Spencers' dairy herd of Jerseys is represented. This is drawn from the magnificent herd which is maintained by D. Spencer, Ltd., near Vancouver.

There is also shown in this breed a good exhibit from the Waikiki Farm near Spokane, Wash. About 25 choice animals from this celebrated breeding herd are in the stalls here.

In the Holstein-Friesian bred there is keen competition. The Monavale Farm at Cloverdale, B.C., has a big exhibit in this kind. The Colony Farm at Essondale is represented by about 20 Holsteins drawn from the noted herd which that institution maintains.

G. N. Smith & Sons, of Hazeldale Farm, Sullivan, B.C., is also an exhibitor in this class of milk producers. J. N. Steves & Sons, of Steveston, exhibit a fine collection of Holsteins.

Guernsey Stock

Among the Guernseys are splendid exhibits by Banford Bros., of Chilliwack, and C. Hawthorn, of Chilliwack. Outside of the province Weiser's Farm, located at Everett, Wash., has a good showing.

The Ayrshires are represented in a diversified exhibit made by W. H. Mortson & Son, of Fairlight, Sask. The Wanatchee Ayrshire Farm, owned by E. W. Van Tassell, has a very select herd of animals shown under the charge of A. J. Leonard.

In this breed the province is well represented by the well-known breeders, Edwin A. Wells & Sons, of Sardis.

Horse Fair Good

The ever-popular horse is well represented in different classes at the Fair. The thoroughbred is well to the front of course in connection with the races. But the show animals are also well represented. In the heavy classes there is keen competition and also in the saddle classes and for other lighter purposes. The judging, which was in progress yesterday, attracted a great deal of attention. The opportunity for the visitor to fully appreciate the qualities of the competitors among horses being best served during the judging.

A fine display of sheep fills all the available space allotted to this division of the fair. Some of the best breeders in Canada are represented in the flocks that are on exhibition here.

Messrs. G. R. Ball & Sons, of Strathcona, Alta., have a showing of Oxford Downs and a few Leicester of Lambs. J. A. Higginson & Sons, of Sardis, have good South Downs on exhibit. Benford Bros., of Chilliwack, exhibit Leicesters.

Variety of Breeds

Mr. Archie Stewart, of Aldergrove, has a very complete exhibit including many different kinds of sheep. He is showing South Downs, Lincoln and Shropshires. Mr. Thompson has Oxfords on show.

Among the horned varieties E. A. Gamble, of Chilliwack, has Dorset horned, and Mr. Riddell has a good collection of Merinos. The Vauxhall Stock Farm, located at Vauxhall, Alta., shows among other Downs a splendid flock of Suffolk Downs. Mr. Fox and Mr. Hubbard are also exhibitors of Down varieties.

In the swine department the space is well filled and the exhibits are of the very best. Yorkshire Tamworths and Berkshires are the principal varieties that are shown. The Vauxhall Farm has high classed Berkshires. W. H. Mortson, of Fairlight, Sask., shows Yorkshires and Tamworths and S. W. Shepherd, of Strathcona, has exhibits in the same classes.

Three Resolutions Adopted by League

Objects of New Body Defined—To Enlist Support of Unorganized Ex-Service Men

Three resolutions were adopted by the United Services League Tuesday night at its meeting, which was held in Memorial Hall. General G. S. Elliott presided. The motions, which were endorsed after full discussion had taken place, were as follows:

"That this meeting defines the primary object of the United Services League to be the getting into touch with as large a number as possible of the unorganized ex-service men on Vancouver Island (i.e., those who do not belong to any existing organization) with a view to keeping them informed of what is being done to carry out Earl Haig's proposal for the formation in Canada of one great central organization of ex-service men, of which all the existing organizations and any local ones which may be formed in the future, shall form part."

"That the second object of the United Services League should be to place at the disposal of unorganized ex-service men on Vancouver Island information as to the advantages which will be realised for them and for the widows and orphans of those who have fallen, when Earl Haig's proposal has been carried into effect, so that each may be in a position to decide, with the fullest possible knowledge, what action it may be most desirable for him to take."

"That, speaking generally, it will be an object of the United Services League to enlist in every way possible the support of the unorganized service men in Vancouver Island for the realisation of Earl Haig's proposal."

General Sir Percy Lake made a short statement to the meeting regarding the work undertaken by the British Legion and the benefits which had accrued to the ex-service men in the British Isles from the increased influence exercised by that body as compared with that previously exerted by individual organizations prior to unification.

The next meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, September 1, at the Memorial Hall, Vancouver Street.

C.P.R. Pushes Tourist Travel From Britain

Mr. E. C. Gill, Publicity Representative, Here to Look Over Situation for Traffic From Old Country

Inquiries About Province

The Canadian Pacific Railway authorities in England are devoting themselves to develop Summer travel to Canada from the Old Country, according to Mr. E. C. Gill, in charge of publicity work for the company in London, England.

Mr. Gill, who is making a tour to look into Dominion conditions, is registered at the Empress Hotel. He says the lack of interest in migration as compared with the great spurts of some years ago and the competition from Australia and New Zealand for emigrants, have led the railway company's officials in England to push the development of transatlantic tourist business.

One of the most promising movements, he says, is that of the teachers. While three parties of British teachers came to Canada this Summer, two touring right through to the Coast, it is expected that this class of education by travel will increase greatly next year.

British Journalists Coming

A number of British people are visiting the Coast, some through the agency of the company, but it is felt there is a great potential field of people of means in the Old Country who will be induced readily to take the opportunity of travel to see something of the Dominion. This movement will come a little later than the United States tourist flood, as British people holiday in August and September rather than July and August, as is the case in the United States.

Mr. Gill says the C.P.R. is bringing out a party of British journalists who will cross Canada this Fall.

Major Hayward in Charge

To Major Hayward, who was formerly a member of the B.C. Legislature, are referred applications for information about settlement in British Columbia, Mr. Gill says, and there have been quite a number of such applications recently by prospective settlers. Many of these people, he says, have some money, and would be desirable additions to the population.

Australia is making a particular appeal for boys just leaving the Old Country public schools. When Mr. Gill first knew Canada there were many of these youths migrating, but such is not now the case, and the company is now making an appeal to them to give a trial to this country.

Bible Students Branching Out

Steadfast Bible Students at Sooke Plan to Found New Colony at Port San Juan

The Steadfast Bible Students at Sooke are sending out a branch of their community to colonize at Port San Juan where, they declare, every opportunity exists for as successful an enterprise as they have already made.

They say facilities for industrial development there are splendid. Having obtained all details from the Government, they have decided to move their entire fishing fleet to the new place, where they will carry on extensively with fishing and manufacturing of lumber.

According to Mr. I. C. Edwards, leader of the community, the colony at Sooke will remain the parent body where all members for all future colonies will be trained. As soon as the Port San Juan settlement is well established, another colony will be founded at Bamfield.

Mr. Edwards expresses the opinion that a West Coast road is absolutely necessary and is anxious that his organization shall be entrusted with the building of it. "We believe," he said, "that the West Coast of Vancouver Island has a future. Our colony has been very successful—we have purchased our land—we have paid for everything—every one of our business adventures has been a success. The West Coast settlement will be a success."

The end of this month, it is expected, will find all plans completed for the establishment of the new branch at Port San Juan.

Editor of Chicago News Dies Aged Seventy-Four

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Victor F. Lawson, editor and publisher of The Chicago Daily News, died at his home here tonight after an illness of two days.

Mr. Lawson had suffered heart attacks in recent years from overwork, and an attack of miocorditis with acute dilation, which came yesterday, proved fatal at 10 o'clock tonight. His nearest relative, his niece, Mrs. Clark N. Tavener, of Chicago, summoned when it was plain his illness had become grave, was at his bedside. Mr. Lawson would have been 75 years old next month.

Mayor Pendray and Ald. Todd and Blair Will Meet Saanich

MAYOR Pendray and Aldermen Todd and Blair, chairmen of the civic finance and works committees respectively, will constitute the special committee of the Victoria City Council which will meet Saanich on the question of water charges, it was announced yesterday at the City Hall.

The date of the joint session of the water committees of the Victoria and Saanich Councils has not yet been set, but Mayor Pendray intimated that the meeting will be held shortly.

Previous to June 1 last, Saanich had paid Victoria for water at a rate of six cents per 1,000 gallons. The city raised this figure by four cents per 1,000 gallons, so that Saanich is now paying on a ten cent basis. Saanich is anxious to secure a reduction in this charge, and hopes that such result will be the outcome of the conference with the city's committee on the water question.

Haste Is Shown by Govt. to Meet Demand of Mr. C. Woodward

the Terminal City has threatened a number of times to resign and force a by-election if his wishes were not met, and each time the Government has hastened to obey the crack of the whip. It is to be expected that its future action will not deviate from the course followed in the past.

Premier Oliver's statement made yesterday in Penticton was as follows:

"Referring to Mr. Woodward's letter, published yesterday, I would say I have no quarrel with Mr. Woodward. The desire that Vancouver have cabinet representation and protection for her water supply is not confined to Mr. Woodward. The other representatives of the city have, possibly less noisily but more effectively, pressed upon the Government Vancouver's rights and requirements.

"I know of no act of the Government which has in any degree injuriously affected Vancouver, and as to cabinet representation, I have stood ready to recommend that two of Vancouver's members be appointed to the Executive Council.

"This fact and the reasons why these appointments have not yet been made are well known to Mr. Woodward."

Subsidy Invites Revolt Declares Laborite Leader

Country Well May Tremble at Settlement of Coal Quarrel, Says Mr. Ramsay MacDonald

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, first Labor Prime Minister of Britain, explains in an article in The Nation why he opposes Premier Baldwin's coal subsidy. Mr. MacDonald thinks this subsidy, intended to provide a living wage for coal miners, is an encouragement to violent revolution.

"The country," he says, "is trembling with its dissatisfaction, and well it may for the circumstances attending this dispute and its settlement are ominous. For at least twelve months this coming clash was apparent.

"The first note of battle sounded by the owners was shrill and selfish. Profits had to be secured first and weges afterwards. Two things followed. The whole labor forces came together. Never has such unity been known in the trade union movement. Every union made the miners' position its own, because it felt that if this challenge was successful it would be repeated all along the line and thrown at every trade in turn. The other thing was that public sympathy was with the men."

Road Foreman Shot Down on B.C. Highway

field, who is a well-known resident of the valley, had been harboring resentment for some time against the Government road gang, which had been making a road from Natal up the Elk Valley to Elk Prairie to give the ranchers of that district access to the Crow's Nest Pass highway.

On Tuesday afternoon the preliminary shooting occurred when the gang were working near Mansfield's property, where, it is learned, Mansfield's boundary fence is situated on a part of the right-of-way which is being transformed into a road.

Turns Rifle on Gang

The gang commenced work on this portion and Mansfield came to them and ordered them to stop, as he said, they were encroaching on his land.

The men continued operations and Mansfield said: "Stop where you are or I will make you."

The gang paid no attention to him and he went to his ranch house and returned with a 30-30 rifle and immediately started shooting at the men.

He fired four or five shots, shooting Frank Norstrom, one of the men, through the foot, slightly wounding Foreman Whiting in the back, while another bullet tore through Abe Norstrom's clothing between his arm and his side without inflicting any wound.

The road gang scattered and ran.

Mansfield returned to his house and, getting a horse, mounted and chased after Whiting, who dodged into the bush and evaded his pursuer. Mansfield then made off into the mountains.

Riding Mishap Proves Fatal

KAMLOOPS, Aug. 19.—Antonio Candido, 54, well-known garage owner here, died last night as the result of a fall while riding at Lake La Bau on Friday evening. His horse stumbled and then fell forward, throwing Candido heavily against the horn of the saddle, resulting in fatal internal injuries.

though none of the records, which he is credited with, were broken. The softness of the grounds, his owner, Peter Welsh states, makes the Canadian champion lose ground on the run to the hurdles, and the attempts to break any records here are extremely difficult. At last night's exhibition Barra Lad cleared more than six feet, 11 inches, which is considered to be an exceedingly good jump for a soft take-off.

The rough-riding exhibition on bronchos and mules kept the crowd in great excitement. All the riders showed great horsemanship, and most of them stayed on their mounts throughout.

Tonight's Programme

Outside of the feature jump over the automobile, which will be performed by Peter Welsh's Mademoiselle, many other features will be presented at the following hours tonight:

8:00—Section 52—Agricultural Filly or Gelding.
8:15 — Section 92 — Thoroughbred gelding or mare.
8:25—Section 113—Best performance over four successive brush jumps 4 feet 6 inches high.
8:45 — Section 123 — Children's ponies.
9:00—Trick roping and riding.
9:10 — Section 50 — Agricultural teams.
9:25—Broncho riding.
9:50—Section 106—Five-gaited saddle horse.

Cabinet Rank for High Commissioners Opposed

MELBOURNE, Aug. 19.—Referring to Sir Robert Borden's statement at Williamstown, Mass., respecting the status of the Dominions, Premier Bruce says that the Commonwealth does not favor the suggestion to give High Commissioners cabinet rank and to create them Imperial Privy Councillors for the purpose of enabling them to attend their cabinet meetings.

New Goitre Remedy

Great interest attaches to reports of a remarkable method for treating goitre recently demonstrated at the W. T. E. Laboratory, 4044 Minty Block, Battle Creek, Mich. It is used by the patient herself in her own home and it is said that the largest and most hideous goitres begin to recede almost in a day. They gradually get smaller until in three or four weeks they are often gone entirely. The treatment is perfectly safe for anyone to use and many believe it will prove the long-sought specific for all goitres. A little book issued by the laboratory explains the method fully and will be mailed free for the asking to anyone interested. (Advt.)

It's the Same at Every Auction Sale!
Always Has Been the Way!
Always Will Be the Way!

SOME PEOPLE SAY: "Why is it, why is it that the people who pay profits do not go to the auction and buy?"

That's Just the Question.
Heaven Only Knows Why They Don't.

But the fact remains that many people don't buy at the auction and afterwards are willing to pay a good, substantial profit. It never fails; it happens after every auction, and that is how easy money and quick profits can be made by those who do buy at auction.

The only explanation we can offer is that many people are sceptical; they do not believe the sale is genuine; they don't believe that such bargains can be obtained, but after the sale, when they read in the papers what actually happened, they wake up and are willing to pay a profit to those who bought at auction.

NEW WAY TO MAKE HENS LAY

Famous Poultryman Finds System to Double Winter Egg Supply

Binghampton, N.Y.—(Special)—A new system, which poultry experts declare may easily double the Winter egg laying output of every hen on which it is used, is the latest accomplishment of Henry Trafford, well-known poultry expert of this city. Mr. Trafford, who was for nearly eighteen years editor of Poultry Success has evolved a plan for getting a largely increased egg supply during the cold Winter months, when egg prices are highest. During the past year, it has been successfully tested by more than a hundred poultry raisers, who report phenomenal success and greatly increased profits. This year many thousand poultrymen are preparing to adopt it, for their system works equally well on large flocks or small—on the farm or for the small backyard pen. The system is simple and inexpensive, does not weaken the hen's vitality or injure her for future breeding. In fact, poultry seem to thrive on it, maintaining high egg yield while doing double duty in the egg line. This new system is fully explained in a paper prepared by Mr. Trafford for free distribution among interested people who keep hens and want to get more eggs and more money profit from them. He will send a free copy to any reader of Victoria Colonist who writes him at his office—Henry Trafford, 4067 Herald Building, Binghampton, N.Y. He wants to get this system started this Winter by at least one poultryman in each county to whom he can refer. If you want more eggs from your hens take advantage of Mr. Trafford's offer. Write him today. (Advt.)

More Early Arrivals in Autumn Coats

There are many new and interesting features about the new Autumn Coats. Even though some are lavishly trimmed with fur they are fashioned on slim lines with tight-fitting hips but with a decided flare to the hem. Fur appears on the collars, sleeves, hem and hip line and when there's no fur, button trimming takes its place. Materials include duvetyns, suedine, rep, velour and lustrous coatings, while some of the favored colors are terrapin, fallow, mahogany, pansy and rich burgundy tones. Prices are quite moderate, ranging from

Telling Touches on Autumn Hats

Fashion may be whimsical but she is very decided about certain things, especially hats. This Fall she gives free reign to small velours and felts. She lets their brims be turned up, turned down, slashed, rolled and sometimes lets them almost disappear. Among the new colors upon which Fashion has set her approval are pansy, ashes of roses, nugget, a new shade of sand and Chinese gold. She highly approves of black hats, too, as will be seen from our big displays. See our table of Autumn Hats at the special low price of $7.95

Women's Clubs And Societies

Women's Institute

The members of the Royal Oak Women's Institute have been busy making final preparations for the Women's Institute exhibitors showing at the Provincial Fair. Mrs. Musgrave is the general convener and Miss Ada Coton has charge of the plain sewing, fancy work, knitting, etc., and Mrs. L. H. MacQueen, of the arts and crafts; Mrs. H. H. Reed, home cooking, jams, jellies, etc. Mrs. Musgrave reported $50 being cleared by means of a garden party held at her home in aid of the solarium for crippled children at Mill Bay, and the secretary was instructed to send a cheque to the Women's Institute Association for crippled children. Steady progress is being made towards the Ward Five exhibit and flower show, to be held Wednesday, September 9, at the Royal Oak Hall. A general meeting will be held at the end of the month to arrange for the flower show.

Increasing Crowds Attend Huge Provincial Exhibition at Willows

Women's Institutes Have Excellent Displays—B.C. Wool Exhibit Shows Growth of Wool Garments From Carding to Knitting—Food Display

The Provincial exhibition is drawing an ever-increasing crowd, an end to which the fine weather is contributing its influence. Amongst the most attractive exhibits are the Women's Institute stalls in the Women's Building. There are three of these, The British Columbia, Victoria and Royal Oak Institutes, and the decorations are effectively carried out in green, orange and white, the Institute colors.

Their exhibits are needlework, some of which is exceptionally fine and beautiful, and cooking of all kinds, including the pickling and preserving of fruits, meats, fish and vegetables.

On the other side of the same building is a big domestic science display of food and articles entered for competition. A glass case full of tempting cakes, rich, plain or elaborately iced and decorated, show the wonderful artistic possibilities of gastronomy. A pretty tea tray, enticingly arranged with mauve and white sweet peas to match the mauve and white tea cosy has been awarded first prize, while some of the laundry entries show great skill with the iron. The rest of the competitive exhibition consists of needlework in great variety and some beautiful hand-made carpets.

B.C. Wool Is Shown

In the British Columbia wool exhibit, in charge of Mrs. Dennis Harris, the whole manufacturing process of wool garments is demonstrated from the first carding to the finished articles, of which there is shown an infinite variety of shape and texture. A huge spinning-wheel, by which the spinner has to stand to do her work, is one of the interesting objects of this large exhibit, and is the property of Mrs. Clark.

In the British Columbia fur exhibit there are some exceptionally fine skins. A white fur coat for a small child is particularly attractive.

Nurse Looks After Kiddies

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company occupies a large section of the Main Building, and besides its imposing advertising booth with buildings silhouetted against the sky as a background, has a comfortable waiting-room, where mothers can leave their children in the charge of a trained nurse if they wish.

Next to this booth the "Peace" Metal Weather Strip Company demonstrates a device for tightening windows to prevent draught and rattling, and another something similar for doors.

Next to the Singer Sewing Machine Company's exhibit David Spencer, Limited, has a display of "Sweeper-Vac" vacuum cleaners and "Easy" vacuum electric washing machines, guaranteed to bring harmony to the home by drying the tears of the poor little housewife.

Silver foxes belonging to Messrs. W. B. Morrison and W. Hughes, of Elk Lake, sleep comfortably in roomy cages surrounded by evergreen branches, presumably having become quite resigned to the cheerful and good-natured noises all about them.

Side Shows Attract Crowds

Crowds throng the portion of the grounds devoted to the side shows. The children find endless amusement at the booth of the ventriloquist who sells balloons and toys and paper birds which he causes to sing gaily. Every kind of gambling game is in evidence, from the "knock-the-pussy-cat-off-the-wall-and-see-what-you'll-get" kind to the "put-your-money-on-the-number-and-see-what-we-give-you" kind; to say nothing of the obliging coon who invites you to throw a ball at him and knock him into a tank of water.

The spun candy stall is exceedingly popular, for the huge bundles of fluffed pink sugar, whirled about in a special machine and softly wound on colored sticks, looks like nothing so much as pink clouds lightly frozen. Testifying to the world's eternal vanity, crowds gather laughingly about the tin-type photographer, who takes, develops and frames photographs in about two minutes.

Samples Can Be Tested

Apart from the large exhibits of the world's biggest pumpkin, the longest bean, the rows and rows of tempting fruits which must not be touched, but which certaintly tempt the passer-by, there are endless attractive exhibits at the Fair.

Somehow the food displays and those pertaining to food have a peculiar fascination for the sight-seer. And not only may he or she feast his or her eyes upon the dainties laid out so enticingly, but there are delicious samples to be tried which will assuredly call for a purchase. David Spencer, Ltd., has a delightful little trellised arbor, arranged with wicker chairs and tables, and decorated most artistically with wisteria and Chinese lamp shades. In this sequestered spot one may taste their tea and coffee.

In the main building there are so many interesting exhibits, that only a few can be mentioned. The Northwestern Creamery and the Royal Dairy have exceedingly popular stalls, where their ice cream sandwiches are quite famous, judging by the numbers of would-be purchasers lined-up waiting. And speaking of cooling delicacies, Mrs. H. G. Oestricher has something entirely new in the way of a cool and refreshing drink for sale. Her stall holds two enormous pillars of what looks to be pink and white and pale yellow snow, which she scoops into a glass and fills up with pineapple and orange juice. The "Snow Sherbet," made of the frozen juices of fresh fruits, combined with the pineapple and orange, makes one of the most delicious drinks imaginable.

Clusters Appear Real

Then comes Fry's exhibit. The local warehouse is showing several new lines of chocolate and sweets. Their cocoa is too well known to need much comment, but the arrangement of the exhibit is worthy of special mention.

Robillard's, who make such a specialty of fruits for the sick room, and the more unusual kinds of confectionery, have in their exhibit specimens from the Dominion Experimental Farm in Saanich. There are some beautiful clusters of Black Hamburg grapes, which look so perfect that some people ask if they are real. There are canteloupes from Kelowna, green peppers also from the Okanagan, some very fine beans and a basket of locally-grown mushrooms.

The Jameson Coffee Company is showing its Van-Art vanilla, and also its teas and coffees.

The B.C. honey is displayed most effectively round a huge bee hive.

Housewives are always interested in new and labor-saving devices for the kitchen, and the E. L. McCleary Novelty Company is showing an ingenious little tool, called the "Ideal Pie Crimper." It cute and decorates the pie crust, and has the happy knack of binding the upper and lower crusts of a deep juicy pie together, so that no liquid will boil over and spoil the oven. It may also be used for decorating the frosting of cakes.

Refreshments Served

There are various tea rooms at the exhibition, each one prettily arranged and doing a thriving business. The Victoria Women's Institute has its room in the top of the women's building, with tables on the cool balcony overlooking the grounds.

In the basement the King's Daughters serve teas and refreshments, their room being decorated with wisteria, mauve asters and sweet peas.

In the main building the Daughters of St. George, Victoria Lodge, No. 33, have a tea and lunch room, and the Daughters and Maids of England, Alexandra Lodge, No. 18, are kept busy serving the holiday crowds.

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Sharen

Things are not always what they seem, and this was just another one of these cases of mistaken identity!

"Pardon," said Fashion looking a bit puzzled, "but are you not Blouse Ensemble?"

"Sorry," answered the striped one charmingly, "my belt has misled you. I'm really One-Piece Frock."

Stripes take naturally to the sports type of dress. Their straight lines are peculiarly right for tailored styles, and tailored styles are peculiarly right for sports. A broad amber-colored stripe with a narrow black one on cream silk broadcloth or crepe de Chine, scarlet on white, and green on tan make delightful frocks in which to follow the golf ball or to chair-ride along the beach on a sunny morning.

Weddings

Ellis-Eddie

Charming in every detail was the quiet but pretty wedding which took place Monday evening at the home of the bride's mother, when Emmie, youngest daughter of the late Mr. George Eddie and Mrs. Eddie, 1519 Amelia Street, and Crawford Ellis, also of this city, were united in marriage, Rev. Dr. Sipprell performing the ceremony. The bride, who entered the drawing-room on the arm of her uncle, Mr. William Eddie, looked charming in a gown of midnight blue crepe de Chine beaded in silver and white, and wore a wreath of orange blossoms in her hair. She carried a shower bouquet of Ophelia roses, white sweet peas and maidenhair fern. She was attended by Mrs. James A. Rowe as matron of honor, who wore a pretty fawn gown with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Mr. James Eddie, brother of the bride, supported the groom and Miss Kershaw rendered the wedding music. Mrs. Eddie, mother of the bride, gowned in navy blue crepe de Chine, assisted the happy couple to receive the guests beneath a huge wedding bell of white roses. The rooms were tastefully decorated with a profusion of Summer blooms. A buffet supper was served, a three-tier wedding cake holding the place of honor in the centre of the table. The evening was spent in dancing and music, the happy couple leaving on the midnight boat for the Mainland, where the honeymoon will be spent. On their return they will reside at 2023 Goldsmith Street. The bride was a popular employee of the People's Cash Groceteria on Yates Street for several years, while the groom is connected with the Hudson's Bay Company, both having a wide circle of friends in this city as the many and beautiful wedding gifts testified.

Abelson-Wilkinson

Centennial Methodist Church was the scene last evening of a pretty wedding, when Rev. Dr. Westman united in marriage Edith, youngest daughter of Mrs. E. Wilkinson and of the late Mr. Wilkinson, and Mr. Verner Franklin Abelson, son of Mr. W. T. Abelson and of the late Mrs. Abelson. The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William A. Wilkinson, was charming in her dainty gown of brocaded peach colored Canton, made on long straight lines and ornamented with pearls, with Leghorn hat trimmed with French flowers. Her shower bouquet was of Ophelia roses, white sweet peas and maidenhair fern. Miss Alice Wilkinson, niece of the bride, was the only attendant, and wore a frock of ecru lace over an orchid slip. Her hat was pansy shaded mohair, and she carried pastel shaded sweet peas. Mr. Roy English was best man. At the reception which followed, Mrs. Wilkinson, Mrs. Thorpe and Mrs. G. Wilkinson assisted. Mr. and Mrs. Abelson left on the midnight boat for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent. The bride traveled in a sand ensemble suit with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Abelson will make their home in Prince Rupert. Among the many handsome presents received was a silver tea service from Mr. Cochrane, with whom Mr. Abelson was associated for several years. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Carrington and Miss Iliff, of Vancouver, and Mrs. Hughes, of Nanoose.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Sent Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girlie was born I was a wreck. My nerves were too terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pains. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills.' So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. ROBERT G. MACGREGOR, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.

A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 98 out of 100 received beneficial results. C

Garden Party at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Aug. 19.—A successful garden party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lewis, Newcastle Townsite, yesterday afternoon, under the auspices of the auxiliary committee. Many were the remarks passed, particularly by visitors from Victoria and Vancouver, concerning the splendid grounds and setting for such an occasion. The committee responsible for the arrangements consisted of Mrs. W. Lewis, Mrs. Ross Lane, Mrs. F. Jepson, Miss Miller, Mrs. J. Kneen, Mrs. R. Kaplansky, Mrs. W. A. Wood, Mrs. O. G. Ingham, Mrs. W. Meakin and Mrs. W. Mitchell.

An excellent performance by two of Miss Lelia Doherty's pupils made a good impression in Grecian dances. Mrs. Olsen and the Misses Davidson followed with vocal selections. The accompanists were Mrs. Rushton and Mrs. Keighley, and Mrs. Richardson and Miss Martindale told many fortunes. A gift tree was a great success, and the golf course clock and ladder attracted much attention. Mrs. J. K. Simpson, Mrs. Meakin and Mrs. Coleman carried off the golf honors. The function realized in the neighborhood of $90, which will be devoted to hospital purposes.

House Peters Stars At Columbia Today

Universal's Celebrated New Play "Tornado" Is Most Spectacular Production

Heroic human endeavor, successful in the face of great obstacles, is the subject that always has a strong appeal, whether it be presented in the guise of literary fiction, the mummery of the speaking stage or the visualization made possible by the screen.

It is such a story that is told in "The Tornado," Universal-Jewel, starring House Peters, which will be shown in the Columbia Theatre commencing today. The original of the screen story is the famous melodrama of the stage written by Lincoln J. Carter, and noted as one of the most spectacular productions in the history of the stage.

The screen version is said to be far more thrilling than the stage version by reason of the fact that the possibilities of the camera in this direction are much greater than are the possibilities of the speaking stage. Universal spared no expense to obtain realism and the result is said to have greatly exceeded the expectations of the studio executives.

CAPITOL THEATRE George Fitzmaurice has joined the ranks of Beverly Hills householders. With the purchase of a beautiful knoll overlooking Mrs. Thos. H. Ince's home, the director has made the first step in his programme of building a permanent home for himself in Southern California. Fitzmaurice recently sold his magnificent country place at Great Neck, N.Y. Construction work on his new home started immediately he had completed his current picture, "His Supreme Moment," in which Blanche Sweet and Ronald Colman are featured. This will be shown by First National at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

DOMINION THEATRE Anne Douglas Sedgwick's novel, "The Little French Girl," the present sensation in the world of literature, is at the Dominion all this week as a Paramount picture that promises to be even more popular than the book. Herbert Brenon directed the production, which features Alice Joyce, Neil Hamilton, Mary Brian and Esther Ralston. The story is one of Alix Vervier, the little French girl, whose mother's mode of life makes a suitable marriage impossible for her in France. She goes to the home of friends in England. How she finally finds happiness despite the past and differences in social standards between the countries makes "The Little French Girl" high class picture entertainment. Mario Majeroni, Anthony Jowitt, a new screen discovery; Maurice Cannon, Paul Doucet and Jane Jennings are a few of the well known names in the strong supporting cast.

COLISEUM THEATRE Holmes Herbert, who heads the cast supporting Corinne Griffith in her latest First National drama, "Love's Wilderness," at the Coliseum Theatre, is a graduate of the "If It" school of acting. An "If It" company, in the vernacular of the English stage where Herbert started, is equivalent to an American barnstorming troupe. If the company took in more than enough money to pay the rent for the day's performance, the remainder was distributed among the actors for back salary. Mostly, however, it didn't, says Herbert.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE All this week the Playhouse Theatre will present the latest photodrama which has for its theme the struggles and temptations encountered by a young girl who aspires to see her name in electric lights on New York's Great White Way. It is promised by the management that in this production they have an offering far out of the beaten path of pictures of this type. "Bright Lights of Broadway" is its attractive title, and it is the latest B. F. Zeldman production.

Music Lovers Will Hear Fine Orchestra At Dominion Tonight

Tonight at the Dominion Theatre Al. Prescott and his concert orchestra will render a snappy and appropriate musical setting for the feature presentation, "The Little French Girl," with Mary Brian in the leading role. The atmosphere of this feature will permit the orchestra to render many fascinating French melodies, among which are included the following: "Madame Toujours Petite" (Hampson), "Chanson du Coeur Brise" (De Moya), "Marche Miniature" (Jacobi), "Tout, a Vous" (Tyers).

The featured selection to be played by the orchestra in between shows will be "The Finale" from the Overture, "William Tell," by Rossini. The comedy attraction for this week presents the screen's favorite comedian, Harry Langdon, in his latest mirth-quake, "Boobs in the Woods," and is a veritable scream.

The Dominion News Weekly is also very interesting, and includes some good pictures of the unveiling of Victoria's War Memorial at the Parliament Buildings.

Italians Fight Duel

MILAN, Italy, Aug. 19.—Dr. Luigi Razza, secretary-general of the Fascist Corporation, and Aldo Carabella, former consul of the 36th Legion of Volunteer Militia at Gallarate, fought a duel with sabres yesterday. Razza was wounded three times in the left arm during the second encounter. The duellists left the field unreconciled.

Dominion and Province Make Good Showing

Instructive Displays Made by Governments at Exhibition — Local Firms Exhibit Good Display

Model Postoffice Shown

Visitors to the Victoria Fair are afforded an excellent opportunity of studying the worth of various branches of agriculture to the country. In the main building the Dominion and Provincial Governments have arranged excellent exhibits. Under the former the work of the experimental farms of Canada are set out, and valuable information is afforded anyone who will make a study of the exhibit.

In the Provincial display information relative to fighting pests is given. Grains in the straw and also in glass receptacles are shown. In both of the exhibits are interesting exhibits of honey bees at work in the hive.

The local post office has a very attractive display under the charge of Postmaster Harry F. Bishop. A fund of information relative to mailing letters is prominently flashed in front of the visitor. The interior working of the post office is also shown by means of model sections of the various departments being illustrated in actual action.

Brooms Made by Blind

An interesting exhibit of brooms made by the blind of B.C. are exhibited by the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. In the factory, which employs only blind persons, there are fourteen men making brooms. The factory is located in Vancouver, and Mr. C. Brawn, representing the institution, reports that there is a steady demand for the product of the factory. Starting in earnest only about three years ago, each season has seen an increased number of brooms sold.

He says that these go on the market without appeal for sympathy. They are placed there in competition with those made in all other factories. They are turning out from five hundred dozen a month upwards.

The Barrett Company has introduced a practical way of exhibiting the qualities of the roofing that is manufactured by this old established company. Model roofs have been put in position while water trickles down over it, demonstrating the fact that in its manufacture it is impervious to water.

A demonstrator is on hand constantly to explain the manufacture and set out the advantages of the various brands of roofing made by the company. In addition to roofing the company also has brands of sheeting which are on exhibition and open for close inspection.

Sporting Goods

Jim Bryant, dealer in sporting goods and radio supplies, has a varied exhibit on view. Centred with a radio set, there is displayed about the place bicycles, tricycles, dolls, carriages, hobby horses and many other attractive goods.

His exhibit is one that will appeal to the boys attending the fair, who will have the opportunity of satisfying themselves to the fullest with the wheeled articles and the ever attractive radio equipment.

Health Exhibit

The Metropolitan Life Assurance Company has a display called the Metropolitan Life Health Exhibit. In connection with it is an apartment where ladies may leave babies under the charge of a trained nurse who is on duty there.

Nestle's Milk display is a distinctive one. It consists of a miniature house, the walls or which have been constructed of cans of Nestle's Food. Alongside, also in miniature, is the familiar cow which is met with in the advertisement of the food.

A very complete hand disc cultivator for small gardens is shown by Mr. E. Barton, of this city, the maker of it.

An Ideal Pie Crimper attracts the attention of the ladies, being exhibited by the introducer.

The Northwestern Velvet Ice Cream has a stand in the Main Building for displaying the qualities of the product.

Luxora, a polish for windshields and for furniture, has a stand for exhibiting its uses.

Fry's cocoa is displayed in various styles, and an attendant serves it freshly made, together with cake.

Billie: "Pa sent me for a piece of rope like this?"

Oilshop Dealer: "How much does he want?"

Billie: "Just enough to reach from the goat to the fence."

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

ROSILYN PAGE—Pathetic, wistful, hard-worked daughter of a Long Island innkeeper, has burning aspirations for a fuller and more beautiful existence. Wealthy New Yorkers come yearly to her father's inn for the duck shooting, but she dislikes them all except one young society fellow.

LANDIS RIDGEWAY—Handsome and distinguished, well used in the wars of the world, and at present in serious financial difficulties. For ten years he has come down at intervals to the Long Island inn to hunt, and has always been kind to the lonely, over-worked young woman. He is in love with a beautiful society girl.

LYDIA HARBROOK—Who values money far above love. Lydia one night calls on Landis while he is staying at the inn, and swears she still loves him, although she plans to marry

STEIVE VAN VORST—A wealthy old roue.

Rosilyn, who is tending her sick father, overhears the conversation between Landis and Lydia.

CHAPTER XIV

Thoughts of Landis

The maid moved dexterously about the apartment. Wherever she went self-centred Lydia—who none the less had her own quota of that magic and commanding quality known as "charm"—obtained excellent service. At times absurdly generous, at other times abominably bad-tempered and capricious and exacting, she yet contrived, in her own selfish, headless way, to weave her spell over those who worked for her, so that they accorded her a measure of affection that—though oddly mixed with irritation and resentment—yet persisted.

"The Vicomte is in love with Madame," murmured Toinette, helping her mistress to dress. "He is so young and handsome—"

"And as poor as a church mouse," supplemented Lydia, laughing. "No, thanks, not for me, my child." Of course I'd love to have the title—I'd make a charming Vicomtesse—but neither of us have a bean! —Just the same, I love to tease that stuck-up old harridan of a mother of his, by cantering in the Bois on Sunday mornings with her darling son! She knows I haven't got a dowry, and she's terrified I'll grab him!"

Toinette sighed sympathetically.

"Here in France it is difficult to marry if one has no dowry. And the shortage of young men——" she flung her hands out in expressive gesture.

Lydia's lip curled. This worship of the male she could not understand.

"Oh, rubbish! I could have ten husbands tomorrow, if I wanted them."

"And the handsomest, and the one I'd choose if I were Madame," announced the French girl unexpectedly, "is the tall, dark man from New York with the oh! so capitavating smile, who was here in Paris last Summer, and always Madame's devoted cavalier! I cannot say the name right—it was Reedge....Reedge....."

"Landis Ridgeway." Lydia's face was suffused with sudden color. "Yes, he's good-looking, I grant you. But as hard up as I am myself, I'm not keen on bread and cheese and kisses. I prefer champagne and caviare." Her laugh rang out, but the sharp ears of Toinette caught the false note in that laughter.

The 'phone bell tinkled. The maid went to answer it. Her face changed, stiffened, as she listened. She turned towards her mistress.

"Mr. Van Horst desires to speak with Madame."

Lydia made a little 'moue' as she darted to the instrument. Tiresome that he had called up just now of all times! Such an enchanted Sunday morning, of Spring sunshine, and young leaves, and soft, balmy air! Youth! Romance! Happiness! They all called to her....

And now Van Vorst was going to spoil it all!

But her voice was cooing as she murmured into the telephone:

"That you, dear? Isn't it wonderful to hear your voice! So sorry I've a tiresome engagement for this morning, but I could lunch with you at the Ritz, or at Paillard's, at half-past one. What's that? Longchamps this afternoon? Would suit me splendidly! I've no decent clothes to wear—but you won't mind? What's that? I always look lovely in any old rags? You gay deceiver! Little do you know....Oh, I'll come....but I haven't a bean to put on the horses! You'll see to that? How awf'ly kind of you! And we'll go to the Pre Catalan for tea? How charming! What's that you say? You've been taking dancing lessons, to be dpsides with me? You gay creature! Then we ought to dine at the Cafe de Paris tonight, and you can practice the new steps! Yes, they cook frogs' legs better there than anywhere. I'll say 'au revoir' now. Don't forget—the Ritz at half-past one."

She replaced the receiver on its hook, turning to her maid. Her lovely face had a comical ruefulness upon it.

"Good Lord! Toinette(isn't it too awful? The man's been taking dancing lessons! Think of his tummy, and of his weight upon my toes!"

Toinette's lips were pursed into a disapproving line.

"His millions weigh still heavier," she said sententiously. "They will give Madame fortitude."

Lydia burst out laughing.

"Quite epigrammatic! Your head's screwed on all right, Toinette!" She caught up her riding-crop and a pair of heavy gauntlet gloves. "I mustn't keep the Vicomte waiting. Don't forget to lay out the three-piece Premet model—the beige one with the cloak edged with sable. I'll be back to change at one o'clock. Have everything ready."

And away she went, immaculately smart in her riding clothes.

"It was indeed a heavenly Sunday morning. As Lydia and her Vicomte rode up the Champs Elysees that was gay with gorgeous cars, and young, adorable green leaves and new Spring clothes and sunshine, she forgot her youthful escort, and old Van Vorst, and her mind reverted uncontrollably to one Landis Ridgeway, she was far away, but—she was sure—definitely with her in spirit at this moment.

Dear, handsome Landis! She had been a beast to him those many, many times!

And he had loved her through it all.

She had enjoyed their many 'scenes' together. How he had wriggled on the hook in futile effort to escape her potent charm!

How useless were these writhings! He was hers, hers....and always would be hers.....no matter if she married the Van Vorst millions tomorrow!

She smiled to herself at the memory of the desperate interview the two of them had had, down at the lonely marshland inn. It had added piquancy to the occasion, and the necessary spice of danger, that Van Vorst himself—unknowing of her nearness—had been sleeping in the inn that night! What would he say if he had known? Had he any idea of the feeling that she had for Landis? Lydia's histrionic sense was highly developed, and even here in Paris she could visualise the scene.

There would be many more such scenes in her young life, she told herself. They fed her vanity. They gave her such a sense of power.

But never, never would she let Landis Ridgeway stray from his allegiance to her. Married to old Van Vorst, Landis would be doubly hers, because millions of money would be backing her. She would tangle Landis ever more and more securely in these millions, so that extrication—(here she gave a complacent smile at the very thought that he might wish to escape! how too absurd it was!)—so that extrication would be quite impossible.

At the pace he was going, no chance that Von Vorst would linger long on earth. His constitution was undermined by gourmandising and excesses. To doctors' warnings he paid little heed.

The obvious thing to do was marry him while the sun shone, see that the settlements were all in order, keep out of his orbit as much as possible, enjoy herself with Landis and other fascinating swains, and patiently await a rich young widowhood!

Such power as would be hers, then! Riches and power and homage!

Favorites and Place Horses Win Six Out of Seven Starts — Bessie Mack II Pays Biggest Price

Suspend Jockey Broadfoot

Favorites and second choices found the going much better at the fourth day of the race meet held at the Willows track yesterday, under the auspices of the Columbia Country Club, and outside of one start, either the first or second favorite crossed the tape a winner. One of the largest crowds in recent years attended yesterday's races, and the betting booths were thronged throughout.

Plenty of thrills were afforded the followers, and most of the races were hotly contested. The third event of the day was, undoubtedly, the most exciting of the card. Okan Belle, Ucan and Bittern, the win, place and show horses respectively, were bunched together at the winning post, and scarcely a neck separated the three contestants. The final race of the day also provided a thrill. Lawn Mower, the second choice, and Dare, ran neck and neck throughout the mile and seventy yards, the former catching the judges' eye to win by a short head.

Bessie Mack Pays Well

Bessie Mack II, in the sixth race, was the biggest rewarder of the day, paying the fine price of $29.80 for a $2.00 nose bet. Vic Munoz, the place horse in the second race, paid the next biggest price in the figures of $12.60 for a place ticket.

Jockey Broadfoot, one of the best riders at the meet, was suspended for the rest of the Willows meet, for rough riding.

Romaldo, E. Neal up, of the Cowdell-McAvoy stable, was easily the class of the first race, and breezed the winning post a length to the good of Jewell City, the second horse. Stepover, the show horse, made a great bid for second money with Jewell City, but lost out by a head. Uncle Jerry, a heavily-backed horse, finished strong in fourth place.

Medford Boy Wins

The second race on the card was a walkaway for Medford Boy. Molter, after having to pull his mount up twice, took the lead on the third turn and drew away from the field to win easily. Vic Munoz was given a good ride by Jockey White, and was well up in second place. Raymond Bradley took third place by a good margin. Billy Randolph, the second favorite, could not make better than fourth place.

The third race was undoubtedly the best of the card, Okan Belle, the favorite, coming through to win in a close race with Ucan and Bittern. C. Greenwood took the winner through on the rail from the start. Broadfoot, riding Ucan, forced his mount all the way, but he could not get by the winner, losing out by a short head. Bittern was the best of the field and took the outside route all the way. He closed strongly and would have won in another two lengths.

Little Pointer Repeats

Little Pointer repeated his performance of last Monday by crossing the wire a winner in the fourth race. C. Greenwood, after a jam on the first turn, piloted his mount through on the outside to win by a length. Angelo, the favorite, hung on gamely the whole way, but did not have the stuff left to win and had a hard fight with Buster Brown to take place money. Buster Brown, on the first turn, bumped Velvet, who in turn took Lula Wood and Pueblo away to the outside. A spill for a second looked imminent, but the riders held their mounts up.

Tatters, a second choice in the fifth race, ably ridden by R. Greenwood, won his race handily. Going into a big lead on the first turn, Tatters stayed off all opposition and just had enough to beat out Just Clare for a win. Molter, on Just Clare, brought his mount along nicely on the stretch and finished about half a length behind the winner. Klickitat Bum held her position all the way and finished third.

A Nice Price

Bessie Mack II broke fast from the barrier in the sixth race and cantered home to win easily. At the first turn, Mazie Barber, the favorite, was bumped and lost all chance of getting in the money. Lucky Cat was in second place all the way and crossed the tape well ahead of Darrel J. for second place. Bessie Mack II paid the best price of the day, awarding her backers $29.80 for a $2.00 nose bet.

A Splendid Race

Lawn Mower and Dare provided a splendid race in the last event on the card. The two horses raced neck and neck the whole way, and the former wore Dare down to win by a head. Regal Lodge, the show horse, held her position throughout and was well up on the rest of the field. Calithump, the favorite, was hard ridden by Jockey Neal, but she refused to extend herself and finished the last of the field. The results are as follows:

Miss McKane Is Showing Great Form in Tennis

Scores Startling Love Set Triumph Over Mrs. Marion Jessup — Miss Colyer Beaten in Straight Sets

FOREST HILLS, Aug. 19.—Miss Kathleen McKane, leading British contender for the national women's title, overwhelmed Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup, of Wilmington, Del., 6-0, 3-0, today in the first third round match of the day.

Miss McKane's triumph was the most startling so far in the tournament. The British star took only 24 minutes to win. She raced through the first set in 11 minutes, making only three errors and allowing her opponent but five points altogether.

Two British stars were eliminated in the third round, but three others emerged victorious and took their places alongside five Americans in the quarter finals of the title tournament at the West Side Tennis Club. England suffered an unexpected setback when Miss Evelyn Colyer was beaten in straight sets by Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., 7-6, 7-5, but the invading forces offset this with two triumphs that proved the sensation of the third day's play.

The first of these was scored by Miss Joan Fry, 19-year-old English girl, who came from behind to conquer Miss Mary K. Browne 2-6, 6-4, 6-3, while in the other Miss Kathleen McKane flashed the most brilliant tennis of the tournament so far in overwhelming Mrs. Marion Z. Jessup. In her three tournament victories so far, Miss McKane has dropped only three games in six sets.

Miss Wills advanced at the expense of the veteran former champion, Mrs. May Sutton Bundy, 6-3, 6-2.

Sportive Punches

By the "Old 'Un"

It's Jack Kearns who is trying to make the come-back, not Jack Dempsey.

* * * * * * *

Jack Dempsey is through as a fighter. Some of the United States writers seemed to see signs of the return of a little fighting spirit in the champion heavyweight of the world when he sent that message to the New York State Athletic Commission, in which he talked about Weber and Fields stuff and the Commission being left to hold the bag.

* * * * * * *

The commission did hold the bag all right and we noticed that Jack Kearns and Tex Rickard put something into it, unless the wires lie. A mere matter of $26,000 each—a trifle, of course, to a Dempsey or a Kearns or a Rickard, but real money to most people.

* * * * * * *

All this talk of a quarrel between the Two Jacks (not of Government Street), and of Dempsey being sick of being held back from fighting by Kearns, is probably just ballyhoo.

* * * * * * *

It reads more like theatrical press agent stuff, with which Dempsey is more familiar now than with real fighting, than anything else.

* * * * * * *

It is quite likely that they are trying to work up for one good last clean-up, when Dempsey will take his licking—and its price—and then go away back and sit down.

* * * * * * *

It's a great game this heavyweight championship fighting nowadays—a great hold-up game!

* * * * * * *

And so Gertrude Ederle failed to swim the Channel. We do not wish her any harm and we are sure she made a plucky effort, but, after all, she did not do any better than a great many others have done who tried before her, and not as well as the last two women who tried.

* * * * * * *

After all the press notices and hullabaloo before starting, all the accompaniments of radio machines, special correspondents, jazz bands, and published messages from Dad and Mother, it certainly must have been rather an anti-climax to collapse from seasickness, as many others have also done before, and to be hauled aboard helpless, nowhere near the objective.

* * * * * * *

The real hero of the Channel swim will always be Captain Webb, no matter how hard the Yankees try to show us how it should be done, and he, poor chap, lost his life after being the first man to accomplish the mighty feat, by trying to show the Yankees how to swim their Niagara rapids.

* * * * * * *

And all the laurels of the ladies' Channel swimming rest till further notice on the brow of that little French lady who tried it the other day without any megaphone announcements, and darned near succeeded.

* * * * * * *

Meanwhile, however great international rivalry may be in sporting matters, we'll wager a hatful it'll be a long time before any foreigner plays such cricket as friend Hobbs.

Third Victory Of Tournament Goes to Incogs

Defeat Cowichan at Mount Tolmie by 210 to 154—Five C's Win From Harlequins in Close Match

The Incogs scored their third straight victory in the local cricket tournament yesterday when they defeated Cowichan on the University School ground by 310 to 154. The Five C's also won again, defeating the Harlequins by 167 to 144.

On the Mount Tolmie ground Cowichan were the first to bat, Leggatt and Carr-Hilton being the first two to face the bowling of Tracy and Wenman, and putting on a nice score for the first wicket, having 49 and 40 respectively. Baiss and Dunlop also did fairly well with 24 and 19, but the rest of the side was all tail and added only fourteen runs between them. The total of 154 was not sufficient against such a strong batting side as the Incogs had out. Reggie Wenman going in first, gave another good batting display and made 33, and Neel, who went in fourth wicket, batted excellently for 69 not out. There were several other useful two figure scores, and although the match was won with four wickets in hand the innings was played out for a total of 310. Tracy did well with the ball, taking 7 wickets for 73 runs.

At Beacon Hill

The 157 made by the Five C's at Beacon Hill proved sufficient against the Harlequins, who were unable to reach within less than thirteen of this total. Cobbett was dismissed for nil by Quainton, Watson, Gibson and Galt making most of the runs. C. E. Quainton did best with the ball, taking 7 wicket for 45 runs.

B.C. Rifle Team Leads Them All At Ottawa Butts

Marksmen of Esquimalt Garrison Win Coates Match—City of Ottawa Trophy Captured by Reid

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGE, OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—A bad thunderstorm, accompanied by heavy rain and hail, halted the programme this afternoon at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association meet. The second stage of the Macdonald Brier trophy competition, open to regimental teams, was finished in a torrential rain.

The Macdonald Brier will be completed later in the week, at the call of the match committee.

The British Columbians outclassed all others in today's shoot. Sgt.-Maj. E. J. Reid, of the Esquimalt Garrison Rifle Association, won the City of Ottawa trophy this morning, and the Esquimalt Garrison team won the Coates match this afternoon. This team, with 368 points, included the following scores: Master Gunner G. H. Collings, 93; Sgt. E. J. Reid, 38; Cpl. H. W. Burton, 90; Q.M.S. Murray, 87. The same team from Esquimalt won the Kirkpatrick Cup, awarded to the team with the highest aggregate in the Macdougall, Walker and Bankers' competitions. The same team, with the exception that Pte. Shrosbee took the place of Q.M.S. Murray, won the City of Ottawa gold cup, donated to the team with the highest aggregate in the City of Ottawa competition.

The Governor-General's Foot Guards' "A" and "C" teams won second and third prizes respectively in the Kirkpatrick trophy competition.

Esquimalt Wins

The Coates match, which is restricted to militia or army teams, was fired on the 500 and 600 ranges. The Esquimalt team, by taking first place, are winners of the Coates Cup and $60 in cash prizes.

The Princess Louise (Argyle and Sutherland) Highlanders' team won second prize with 353 points; the Ottawa Highlanders, third, and the 48th Battalion, Toronto, was fourth.

The "Tilson" judging distance competition, it was announced this morning, was won by Lieutenant-Colonel W. O. Morris, of Toronto, who made 18 points out of a possible 24.

The Gooding Gold Medal, a competition open to competitors under 21 and based on the aggregate scores in the tyro, cadet, Macdougall and Walker matches, was won by Cadet Captain J. L. McAvity, of Rothesay, N. B., with a total of 225 points.

Youngest Marksman

In the Walker competition Cadet R. Jenner, aged 16 years, of the Regina Collegiate, the youngest marksman on the ranges, shooting on the 300-yard range, made a score of 34 points out of 35, six bulls and one inner. On the short range, however, he made a poor showing, as in this competition 38 possibles were scored.

Owing to a misunderstanding the Victoria Rifles Challenge Trophy yesterday was allotted in error to the Hamilton Collegiate No. 2 team. Under the change, the Governor-General's footguard team, with 259 points, takes first place.

W. E. Tingman, Montreal, again won the running man daily competition with 23 points of a possible 26. In the individual daily miniature competition J. G. Sullivan, Toronto, won first prize with a score of 38.

Playground Teams For Y.M.C.A. Gala

Great Comeptition Promised in All Events at Curtis Point Sports August 22

Boys of the city who are interested in aquatics are getting into shape for the Y.M.C.A. gala, to be held at Curtis Point Swimming Club on Saturday afternoon, August 22. One of the features of the gala is that the city playgrounds are making up teams for relay races and general competition. Jack Shadbolt, Kenny MacAllister and Albert Russel, city playground supervisors, are making up the teams, and are still looking for available material in their neighborhoods. Any swimmer under 13 years of age should report to them if he wishes to make the team.

In the senior division of the gala some keen competition is promised, as several of the finest swimmers in the city under 18 years of age are entered and are training daily at the Gorge for the big event. Among the list of entries appears the name of Ernie Peden, runner-up for the cup last year. As well as being a classy swimmer, Ernie is capable of turning in a very fine exhibition of fancy diving. Bill Robertson and William Dickinson, who took part in the George three-mile event, are also on the programme and will give the other competitors lots of worry. George Cameron and Bill Pickard are two comers, who are excellent divers and also can shake wicked fins.

Audrey Griffin, the Coast's premier lady swimmer, is acting as referee of the meet and Archie McKinnon, whose experience and ability are well known in the city, is heading the committee of judges. Henry King, who has had a lot to do with training the younger swimmers, will act as starter. With the above acting as officials, every confidence is held by the Junior swimming club officials as to the smoothness and efficiency with which the meet will be run off.

Broken Plane and Its Pilot Found on Isle

any connection with the liquor-running business.

Although the investigating officers were unable to find any incriminating evidence on the wrecked plane, they did not come back entirely empty-handed. Just as the customs boat was entering the channel between Discovery and Chatham Islands, a small launch containing two men commenced to head out towards the sea. It was overhauled, and a search disclosed about a dozen cases of Scotch whisky tucked away in its hold. The boat and cargo, and the crew of two, were brought to Victoria.

That strange aeroplanes have often been seen in the air near Discovery Island, recognized as an important rendezvous of rum-running craft, is vouched for by residents of Oak Bay. One man, who lives on the seafront facing Discovery Island, said that a large grey seaplane had visited the island about 4 o'clock in the afternoon of Saturdays for some weeks past, and it has been reported to the Provincial police department that aircraft were making night trips between Discovery Island and a point in the vicinity of Seattle.

A box containing historical data in connection with the hospital, which is this year celebrating its fiftieth anniversary, along with copies of local papers, the hospital constitution, and names of the women's auxiliary, with the programme of the convention, will be placed in the corner stone, which will be laid at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening by Hon. W. C. Nichol Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia.

The ceremony in connection with the laying of the stone will be attended by the Nanaimo silver cornet band and a guard of honor from H.M.S. Capetown.

The speakers in connection with the ceremonies include Hon. William Sloan, Mr. Charles McCallum, president of the hospital board, and the dedicatory prayer will be offered by the Bishop of Columbia.

Foresters Conclude Jubilee Meeting

NANAIMO, Aug. 19.—The Nanaimo Foresters brought their 50th anniversary celebration to a close last evening, when the delegates and visitors attending the convention were entertained to a delightful "at home" under the auspices of Court Progress and Court Nanaimo Foresters, held in the Foresters' Hall. At the conclusion of the lodge session a splendid concert, contributed to by local artists, was greatly appreciated by the large gathering present. Dainty refreshments were provided, and the committee in this department was complimented upon the manner in which the large crowd was served. The evening concluded with a jolly dance, a feature of which was the excellent music by the Foresters' orchestra.

Fire Damages House

NANAIMO, Aug. 19.—Fire yesterday damaged the residence of Mr. I. Hendrickson, Chase River, to the extent of about $200. With the help of neighbors and a bucket brigade the flames, which broke out in the roof of the building, were extinguished after a hard fight. A bush fire near the head of Oyster Bay broke out afresh yesterday afternoon, and last evening was plainly visible from Nanaimo.

Irate Bull Drives Sleepers Into Tree

Animal Charges Tent and Slumbering Occupants—Police Rescue Men in Tree

HAZELTON, B.C., Aug. 19.—Three men sleeping in a tent here had their slumbers rudely and unpleasantly broken into on Tuesday morning by a blooded bull belonging to the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. The animal was fastened in a pasture field with a heavy logging chain, but managed to pull the stake to which it was fixed.

The first object that met his gaze in his new freedom was the tent. This he evidently looked upon as an alien enemy, for he charged it full tilt. In a few moments canvas, sleepers and several bags of oats which were in the tent were mixed up in one indiscriminate mess.

The men extricated themselves in record time and sought the security of a nearby tree, in whose upper branches they remained till rescued by the police, who had been roused by the sounds of the melee. The bull charged the tree repeatedly, but on the arrival of the police retired in dignity to his home.

Matricide Trial Halts For Wedding Ceremony

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—The murder trial of Dorothy Ellingson, 17-year-old matricide, recessed this forenoon for a wedding.

Superior Judge Harold Louderback yesterday continued the case until 1 o'clock to permit Mrs. Hart, one of the seven women jurors, to attend the wedding of her only daughter, Mary C. Hart, to Raymond H. Dunn, of this city. The marriage took place this morning, with several members of the Ellingson jury as guests.

Smuggling Parley Will Begin Today

Strengthening of Rum and Narcotic Barriers Chief American Aim in Conference

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—Canadian representatives to attend the conference between officials of the Dominion and United States Governemnte to draw up regulations to give effect to the recent treaty to suppress smuggling across the border, arrived here today.

Conferences on the regulations will begin tomorrow. The chief purpose so far as the United States is concerned is to tighten the border restrictions against rum smuggling and narcotic smuggling, and for this reason Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, now head of prohibition enforcement, will be prominent in making the regulations.

The Rhode Island attorney-general's department will continue its investigation to determine whether there was criminal culpability in last night's disaster. Federal steamship inspectors and Newport police also started independent investigations. United States Senator Jesse H. Metcalf asked Secretary of Commerce Hoover to start an immediate inquiry.

An Old Boiler Much Repaired

"When the state investigators inspected the Mackinac's exploded boiler they found it was an old one deteriorated by wear and thinned down in certain places," said Mr. Heitsen. "What occurred at the time of the explosion was a rupture of the plate in the cross drum extending from the right hand side of the fire box to the centre of the boiler alongside of the longitudinal seam.

"The longitudinal seam was very thin and the opening was six or seven inches wide, extending upward to the rear of the drum. It appeared that from time to time the boiler had been subjected to extensive repairs by the addition of new bolts and patches.

"The repairs may be evidence that the boiler was in a weakened condition."

The Captain's Story

Captain McVey said the boat was traveling 15 knots an hour and was loaded to capacity.

"I was in the pilot room with Pilot Thomas and Quartermaster Spenard when we heard a concussion aft," he said. "This was followed immediately by the hissing of escaping steam and the entire vessel was enveloped with a steaming mist. Then the engines stopped suddenly and I gave the wheel a yank, and headed it to the beach where its own momentum grounded it shortly after."

Those who saw the disaster said a large burst of black smoke shot from the steamer. This was followed by the steam which enveloped the ship to such a degree that she could not be seen from the shore.

Every member of the base medical corps as well as the naval nurses worked with feverish haste to relieve the victims. The majority of those who died at the naval hospital were in such shape they could only try to make their last moments as painless as was medically possible, physicians said.

A Night of Horror

The night of horror presented scores of pitiful sights. A girl, whose life is despaired of, cried out continually asking why she should die, as heroic naval workers carried her into the hospital.

In the first group of injured landed at the government pier, was a 10-year-old girl. As Patrolman Timothy Sullivan rushed to her side she held up her scalded arms and pleaded, "Please blow on them, they burn so."

Twenty Thousand Men Reach Saskatchewan For Harvest Season

SASKATOON, Aug. 19.—A total of 20,520 harvesters from Eastern Canada and British Columbia have reached Saskatchewan within the past week and a half, Canadian National Railway and C.P.R. officials here said today. Of this number 15,000 have been brought from the East, and 5,520 from British Columbia.

May Go to Mainland To Compete at New Westminster Fair

SAANICH district exhibit's victory at the Provincial Fair yesterday by 2,446 points over Richmond with 1,795 points, will probably result in an application by the South Saanich Farmers' and Women's Institutes to the Saanich Council for a grant to enable the exhibit representative of the institutes of Saanich to go forward to the exhibition at New Westminster early in September. There it is certain the contest will have to be fought out again with Richmond and several other notable entries from the Lower Fraser Valley.

Miners Killed in Fall

FAYETTEVILLE, W. Va., Aug. 19.—Four carpenters retimbering the air shaft at the Lochgelly Mine of the New River Coal Company, near here, were killed today in a fall of 200 feet down the shaft when the scaffolding on which they were working gave way.

The State Highway Department of Pennsylvania has completed renumbering more than 376 separate highway routes and combining them in less than 80 through trans-state thoroughfares. Motor tourists coming upon these routes at the border can follow them the entire length or breadth of the State.

Selling Forces Market Decline

Small Losses General Among Motors and Rails—Mack Trucks Hard Hit

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—Stock prices turned reactionary today under the weight of a large volume of selling for both accounts. Net losses of one to three points were rather numerous among the motor equipments, rail and merchandising issues. Several individual strong spots developed, however, in the oil and non-ferrous metals shares.

In the absence of adverse trade news, Wall Street was generally inclined to regard the reaction as a correction of a weakened technical position. The Belgian debt agreement and the establishment of a new 1925 high freight traffic record in the week ended August 8, had a bullish effect on speculative sentiment, which was reflected in the large overnight accumulation of buying orders.

Mack Trucks was one of the hardest hit in the late wave of selling, breaking seven points to 231 after having publication of its record high. National Lead soared ten points to 163¾, and American Smelting and International Nickle each moved up more than two points to new 1925 high record at 109¾ and 35 respectively. Havana Electric reached a new peak at 207¾.

Call money held steady at four per cent. Time money rates were unchanged, but a slight stiffening was noted in rates on prime commercial paper, which were quoted at 4 to 4¼ instead of on a flat 4 per cent basis.

Foreign exchanges moved within rather narrow and irregular limits. Belgian francs rallied nearly eight points to around 4.57c on the announcement of debt funding, but lost half their gain before the close. Demand sterling was slightly easier around $4.85⅝, while French francs ruled about two points higher, 4.69c.

Heavy buying of Belgian Government obligations, influenced by the favorable reception of the terms for funding the little kingdom's war debt, was the most conspicuous feature of today's bond market, which continued to follow an upward course. Gains were limited, but all of the five Belgian issues listed on the stock exchange moved forward, and the turnover was particularly heavy in the loans sold here within the last year.

Trade Slight But Wheat Still Firm

Little Offering at Winnipeg and Buying Confined to Purely Local Demand

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19.—With one of the lightest trades in many days, but with very little wheat being offered for sale, the market was fairly strong today, prices advancing about two cents over the previous close. October closed 3⅛ higher at 145⅝, December 1⅝ at 141⅝; and May 3⅛ at 146. During the early trading transactions were largely local, outside buyers being reported as scarce. The local strength came mostly from the advance at Chicago, which was based on reported buying by large New York interests. There was no pressure on the market.

Outside of a good class of barley buying which looked like export business for shipment during the early part of the session, coarse grains were very dull.

Chicago Grain

(Supplied by B.C. Bond Corpn., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—Market opened unsettled, but there was no material pressure, and when houses with Eastern connections bought the market advanced readily as offerings were rather light. Light receipts in all markets together with Murray's report estimating spring wheat crop at 258,000,000, or 4,000,000 bushels less than two weeks ago, while Le Count's report estimating the Canadian provinces at 322,000,000, or 28,000,000 less than the Government returns were the chief factors in encouraging the bulls. Wheat closed showing net gains of 2⅞ to 3 cents, and on any further bulge from here think can be sold temporarily. Fairly active market in corn with shorts the best buyers and offerings rather light caused fast upturn. Scattered commission houses sold on the bulge on reports that country sold 300,000 bushels of old corn and some new to arrive together with Murray's report of 3,015,000,000 bushels, or 65,000,000 more than Government figures. Still feel that selling on any good advance will prove profitable.

Grower Suing Mutual For Price of Twenty Carloads of Tomatoes

VANCOUVER, Aug. 19.—In an action started by W. H. Hardy, a farmer of Keremeos, against the Mutual (Vancouver) Limited, he makes a claim for the price of twenty carloads of tomatoes and fruits shipped at the request of the defendants in 1922 and 1923, part at the price of seventy-five cents per lug F.O.B. Keremeos and part on consignment."

Mr. Hardy is not a member of any growers' combination and it is said by his solicitors that he is seeking to obtain from the books of the Nash concern in Vancouver details as to what became of his shipments to the Vancouver house.

Winnipeg Grain Letter

(Supplied by R. P. Clark & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19.—Wheat: Sentiment was very bullish today, and while there was no selling pressure at any time, the bulls had it all their own way and were able to force prices up without taking much wheat. Trade was largely local, outside orders being reported as small. There was no particular change in the news with the exception that European weather was not quite so favorable, creating a good demand for cash wheat. There was a better demand for Canadian wheat yesterday and some half million bushels were sold, partly from stocks afloat and partly from stocks in position for immediate shipment. The Liverpool market was stronger than expected following the decline on this side yesterday, cables coming ⅜ to ⅝ up, and closing ½ to 1½ up. The local strength came mostly from the advance at Chicago based on reported buying by strong New York interests. There was a little buying at the opening by exporters, but this demand fell away on the advance, and seaboard advices stated that the demand this morning was flat with no sales reported. The weather bureau, Canadian West favorable for harvesting operations, and wheat cutting is fast becoming general in all three provinces. The forecast is for fine today and Thursday. Le Count's estimate of 322,000,000 bushels for Western Canada is liable to be too low, especially when he places the Manitoba crop at 35,500,000 bushels. The market may go a little higher the next day or so, but we advise extreme caution in following any bulge from present level.

Coarse Grains: There was some good buying of barley by exporters for early Fall shipment, but outside of this the coarse grains markets were dull. Prices were all higher, and this market was following the trend of wheat.

Flax: Stronger market in sympathy with the strength in the general grain list, but trade was light and featureless.

Empire Body Would Assist Meat Trade

Commission Recommendations May Aid Canadian Bacon and Cattle Movement

OTTAWA, Aug. 19.—Recommendations for the development of inter-empire trade in meat have been made by the imperial economic commission, which was appointed by the last Imperial Conference. The recommendations of the committee may be summed up briefly as follows:

1. Origin of meat to be indicated by retailer at time of sale as prescribed in the committee's first report.

2. Necessity of investigation into the possibility of quicker transport to bring Australian and New Zealand supplies into "chilled" meat market.

3. Grant towards carriage of pedigree stock from the United Kingdom to the Dominions to improve breedings.

4. Necessity for reconsideration of the United Kingdom legislation for the importation of live animals with object of placing all the Dominions on the same footing.

5. Suggestion for the reduction of cold storage charges by organizations and regulation of supplies.

Giving effect to the first recommendation will, it is thought here, assist the Canadian bacon trade competition with Danish and American bacon.

The second recommendation is designed to give an advantage to Australian and New Zealand chilled meat over that from Argentine.

The fourth recommendation deals with the situation which has arisen since the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle. While the embargo has been removed and the cattle trade developed, there are still certain restrictions.

Dazzling Array at Automobile Show

Great Progress Made in Last Twenty-Five Years Accentuated by Great Display

Of the hundreds who visited the Automobile Show yesterday afternoon and evening, there were probably few who gave a thought, as they looked over the dazzling array of the latest and finest in motor vehicles, that just a handful of years ago the automobile was a fearful and wonderful thing.

Twenty-five years ago the automobile was a toy, a rich man's plaything, a hideous mechanical contraption in which beauty was never considered. In twenty-five years the automobile has risen to the point where its manufacture and sale has become the greatest industry in the world. The automobile of today is as different from the automobile of twenty-five ago as day is from night.

For that reason it is interesting at a time of an automobile show, when the mind of the public is occupied with the beautiful creations motordom is producing today, to turn back to the automobile of early years that one may get a better idea of the progress that has been made. The following comments on motor cars, clipped at random from a McClure's Magazine of May, 1899, will prove almost as curious and historical to the 1925 motorist as did the treasures of the tomb of Tutankhamen to the Egyptologists when they entered the burial place.

Paris to Bordeaux

The first paragraph quoted deals with a road race from Paris to Bordeaux, France, and when one remembers the speed made by Jimmy Murphy in the Grand Prix race in France in 1921 and compares his better than 100 miles an hour gait with the speed of fifteen miles attained in this race, one can realize something of the development of the automobile.

"In the race from Paris to Bordeaux and back, on June 11, 1895, seventeen motor vehicles competed for prizes aggregating $16,000," states the article. "The first carriage covered the distance of 736 miles at an average rate of nearly fifteen miles an hour for both night and day running, the exact time record being forty-eight hours and fifty-three minutes.

"This demonstrated conclusively the power of motor vehicles to cover long distances at high rates of speed; for it is plain that neither horse nor bicycle could accomplish such a feat."

Accident Spectre Even Then

Even back in these days the question of the motorist who leaves his brain in the garage was beginning to come up, for following is a pertinent comment from the article on the fact that the motor car has not the intelligence of the horse.

"It should be borne in mind that the carriage without a horse is also without the convenience of a horse's intelligence, which really in ordinary traffic and driving relieves the person holding the reins of a large part of his responsibility. Not even the best made motor can think, and the slightest carelessness on the part of its driver, or failure of the guiding apparatus, might precipitate an accident.

Driving Once Difficult

Judging from the following quotation driving an automobile in those days meant a lot of concentration, for the writer states that:

"It usually takes a week to train a new man so that he can manage all the brakes and levers with perfect presence of mind. Both of his hands and both of his feet are fully employed. With his left hand he manages the power lever, pushing it forward one notch at a time to increase the speed. With his right hand he controls the steering lever, which, by the way, turns the rear wheels and not the front ones, as is done with horse propelled vehicles.

"His left heel is on the emergency switch and his left toes ring the gong. With his right heel he turns the reversing switch, and he can apply the brake with either his right or his left foot. When he wishes to turn on the lights, he presses a button under the edge of the seat. Hence, he is very fully employed, both mentally and physically. He can't go to sleep and let the old horse carry him home."

Royal Society of St. George Holds Successful Picnic

Fletcher and a committee, whilst prizes were donated by members of the entertainment committee.

The prize winners in the programme of sports were:

Italian Aviator Progresses

MANILA, Aug. 19.—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator who is making a flight from Italy to Tokio and Australia, arrived at Zamboanga, Isle of Mindanao, at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. His last hop was from Menado, Celebes. De Pinedo probably will remain at Zamboanga until Friday on account of storms to the north.

Two Killed in Motor Accident

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 19.—Mrs. Edward Wilkinson, Detroit, and her daughter, Edna, aged 8, are dead here as a result of a motor accident at Melrose early yesterday. The Wilkinson car collided with an automobile on a bridge which did not provide room for two cars to pass and the Wilkinson car was precipitated into a ditch and wrecked.

Empress of Russia Leaves Tonight for the Far East

Taking Out Largest Saloon List of Passengers to Leave This Port for Orient This Year—Capacity Cargo Also Being Taken Out—Australia Behind Schedule

With the largest saloon passenger list to be carried by any transpacific liner out of Victoria during this year, the Canadian Pacific Ss. Empress of Russia will sail from Victoria at 6:30 o'clock tonight for the Far East. The vessel is scheduled to leave Vancouver at noon today for this port. There will be a total of more than 300 passengers of all classes on board the Russia when she clears tonight.

In spite of reports from China, which would tend to discourage missionary enterprise in that country, members of the Seventh Day Adventists Church will sail on the Russia for the Chinese mission field. The party is in charge of Dr. H. W. Miller, who has been in charge of this organization's sanitarium in China for a number of years. In this group are several families who have been on furlough in Canada and the United States, and who will return to their posts in interior China. The majority going out for the first time will settle in around Shanghai to train for their future work in the mission fields.

Prominent Passengers

Prominent passengers will include: Judge E. P. Revilla and family, of Manila; Major W. H. Roffes and Mrs. Roffes, of Hong Kong; Dr. J. B. Fearn, of New York, en route to Hong Kong; Mr. Byron T. Wrigley, son of the chewing gum manufacturer, of Chicago, returning to Singapore, where he is in charge of his father's interests; Col. J. Brooks Nichols, prominent resident of Manila; two Japanese embassy officials from Washington, en route to Tokio; Hon. A. Kira Fukuoka and Hon. I. Uchiyama; Miss A. Milligan, of Moncton, N.B.; Miss Ada Hilliam, of Yarmouth, N.S.; Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Maxwell, of Peking; and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Bothwell, prominent residents of Shanghai, who are returning to China after spending the Summer at Banff and Lake Louise.

Australia May Be Late

The Russia will carry her capacity of freight, 3,200 tons in all, including 1,700 tons of lead, 100,000 feet of lumber for Yokohama, 300 tons of craft paper for the Japanese market, 700 tons of flour for Japan and China, two carloads of gum for Japan and 25 tons of cigarettes, in addition to a large cargo of general merchandise.

No word has been received here as to the cause of the strike of Japanese members of the Empress of Australia crew at Tokio. The vessel was delayed considerably at that port, and finally left with only a crew of 87, some 350 Japanese having walked out on strike. All speed will be made by the Empress of Australia, but with the crew so small it is doubtful if she will get in even one day behind schedule.

Bookings Heavy For Cruise on H. F. Alexander

Admiral Line's Express Ship Will Leave September 29 on Proposed "Around America Cruise"

Will Enter on New Run

When the coastwise liner H. F. Alexander departs from Victoria, September 29, on the intercoastal voyage which is to place this vessel in the service between New York and Miami for the Winter months, it is estimated that there will be more than 100 passengers on board who will make the "Around North America Cruise."

Mr. H. F. Alexander, president of the operating company, plans making the trip himself, and will spend the greater part of the five months the express liner is to be withdrawn from local coastwise service in New York and Miami supervising this operation. Mr. Alexander says the liner will engage in the Atlantic coastwise service only for the period each Winter when traffic on this Coast shows a more or less decided diminution.

The intercoastal excursion planned for the H. F. Alexander embraces the departure from here on September 29, with calls at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Balboa, Colon and Havana. At the California ports indications forecast the embarking of practically a capacity list from this coast to New York.

Liquor Carriers To Be Drydocked And Overhauled

The auxiliary schooner Malahat, and the Principio, which arrived in Vancouver yesterday after a long absence, will be drydocked and overhauled before loading for southern ports again. The Malahat is badly in need of repairs, not having put into Victoria since leaving this port last Fall with a cargo of liquor for the South.

New B. C. Port May Be Outlet For the Yukon

Mr. J. P. Forde Returns After Tour in Northern British Columbia Waters—Port Is on Tarr Inlet

Orient Chartered

Receding at the rate of half-a-mile a year, the Grand Pacific Glacier on Glacier Bay has moved back 65 miles in the last 120 years, and has provided British Columbia with a new port and a possible outlet for the Yukon territory, according to Mr. J. P. Forde, district engineer of the Federal Government, who has just returned from a trip to Northern British Columbia.

Mr. Forde is busy making out his report for the Dominion Government, and is not yet in a position to divulge the most important information in detail. The new port is at the head of Tarr Inlet, one of the numerous arms of water in Glacier Bay. The water stretches into British Columbia one mile past the international boundary.

If the hinterland beyond this most northern tip of British Columbia can be pierced by rail, then an outlet for the Yukon territory will be possible. This will mean the work of much survey, however, and until then nothing definite can be said as to the possibility of British Columbia benefiting from an increased development of the Yukon.

Ss. Orient Chartered

SEATTLE, Aug. 19.—W. L. Comyn & Co. have chartered the Ss. Orient City to load lumber on the North Pacific for Sydney and Newcastle, Australia, at private terms, in September. The vessel will load in Eureka, on Puget Sound; and B.C. The loading ports have not been determined.

Seaweed Valued at $660 Loaded on Grant for Far East

Three tons of dried seaweed, valued at $660 and considered a food delicacy in the Orient, was the unusual shipment loaded on the Admiral-Oriental liner President Grant before she sailed for the Far East at 5:30 o'clock last night.

The President Grant took out a good saloon list of passengers and 100 steerage passengers. Prominent among those on board was Rev. W. Howard, of the Scripps-Howard publications, bound for Shanghai.

Shidzuoka Maru Is Loading Big Lumber Cargo

Sails for Far East Saturday With 1,450,000 Feet of Timber — Tokiwa Maru Due Midnight, Friday

Silk Valued at $5,000,000

When the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzuoka Maru sails for the Orient, Saturday, she will take out one of the largest cargoes of lumber that has been shipped to Yokohama on one of the company's liners in months. One million feet of lumber and 450,000 feet of cedar logs is being loaded on the Shidzuoka Maru in addition to a capacity cargo of general freight. The liner will sail from this port at 5:30 p.m., Saturday, according to word received by the local office.

Mr. A. H. Webb, local representative of the N.Y.K., is in receipt of advice from the Tokiwa Maru that she will make William Head quarantine station midnight, Friday, fully 12 hours ahead of schedule.

This is one of the liner's fastest trips. The reason is given that there is a record silk shipment on board. More than 4,000 bales of raw silk are stowed away in the holds, and will be rushed East over the Great Northern Railway lines as soon as discharged. The shipment is valued at $5,000,000, and is the largest that has ever been carried by an N.Y.K. freighter. The Tokiwa Maru will discharge 100 tons of cargo here and 40 bags of mail.

Malahat Engines Fail Short Time After Departure

Nine Thousand Miles Sailed to Get 2,000 Miles South—Principio Towed Helpless Vessel Into Port

Both Ships Carried Liquor

VANCOUVER, Aug. 19. — After many months on the high seas, during which time they were rarely heard of, two ships, the Malahat and the Principio, arrived in the harbor today.

The Malahat, five-masted schooner, cleared from Vancouver last November with a capacity load of liquor for Central America. After leaving Victoria one of her two auxiliary engines broke down and for the most part of her voyage the ship had to resort to sails.

Encountering head winds, the vessel was compelled to sail more than 9,000 miles to get 2,000 miles south. Several times during her absence the Malahat was reported lost with all hands.

The Principio sailed from here in the middle of March, also heavily laden with liquor, and until her return today little was heard of her.

Princess Charlotte To Make Excursion

Great War Veterans' Association Arranges Labor Day Trip to Seattle

The Great War Veterans' Association has decided to hold the annual Labor Day marine excursion this year, and Seattle has been decided upon for the visiting point.

Due to the increasing popularity of this excursion the association has chartered a large vessel, the Princess Charlotte, which has accommodation for 1,200 passengers. The steamer will leave Victoria at 8:45 a.m., and arriving in Seattle about 1 o'clock the excursionists will be given approximately four hours in the city, the Princess Charlotte being scheduled to sail on the return trip at 5:20 p.m.

The entertainment committee is working hard to make the affair a success and all possible arrangements are being made for the enjoyment of those who make the trip. An orchestra will provide dance music on the voyage to and from Seattle, while a band will render a concert programme on the promenade deck. Arrangements will also be made for entertainment while in Seattle, while the usual sightseeing tours will be in demand.

Boy Drowned at Prince Rupert

PRINCE RUPERT, Aug. 19.—Willie Smith, aged seven, son of W. Smith, of the drydock staff, was drowned in Hayes Creek yesterday afternoon. The boy had taken his father's dinner to him and was returning home when he fell from a culvert. The body was recovered.

Derelict Seen Off Grey Islands May Be Leif Erickson

ST. JOHNS, Nfd., Aug. 19.—Captain W. Winsor, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, believes that a derelict seen off Belle Isle last Winter was the Leif Erickson, of the lost Nutting expedition which tried to duplicate the feat of the Norse explorer by following his route in a small sailing craft. It has been missing more than a year. The Minister stated this belief in an interview today.

The derelict was later sighted at Grey Islands but since then has not been seen.

Recent Cabaret A Big Success

Under the Auspices of Cowichan Bay Yacht Club Delightful Affair Held

Over three hundred people, including many Victorians, attended the recent cabaret and dance in the C.A.A.C. Hall, Cowichan, under the auspices of the Cowichan Bay Yacht Club.

The music was supplied by the Crystal Garden orchestra, which has already gained great popularity in the district, was much appreciated, reports The Cowichan Leader.

The organization and preparation for the event were under the energetic direction of Mrs. McConnell, who spared no pains to make the evening a success. Some of the artists who appeared in the various turns came from Victoria, while local talent was also not wanting.

Miss Lorna Lewin, Victoria, who was to have given several songs, was suffering from a severe cold, but, although unable to sing, she presented, with a partner, an excellent exhibition of the Spanish tango.

Mrs. Ashley-Sparks and Miss D. Spencer, both of Victoria, danced an ensemble in graceful style, and a song entitled "The Green Wig," was given by Miss Spencer. Mr. A. W. Hood's song, "Little Cupid," was well received.

Captain Arthur Lane, the commodore, in appropriate words thanked Mrs. McConnell on behalf of the Yacht Club for her efforts, and presented her with two bouquets of flowers. Members of the Yacht Club also presented the commodore with a bouquet for Mrs. Lane, who was unable to be present. The proceeds of the entertainment are to assist the funds of the Yacht Club.

An excellent supper was served under the direction of Mrs. A. E. S. Leggatt. Among those assisting her were Mrs. C. E. Bromilow, Miss Peel, Mrs. E. W. Cole, Mr. E. J. G. Palmer and Mr. I. O. Averill, while the supper tables arranged upstairs were waited on by many willing helpers whose activities were much appreciated. The thanks of the Yacht Club are due to Mr. Palmer for his tireless efforts and many days of work for the event.

Owing to illness, Miss M. Waldy and Mrs. D. B. McConnan, of Victoria, who were to have taken part, were unable to be present. Mr. Dickie, M.P., on behalf of the Yacht Club, thanked the artists from Victoria.

H.M.S. Capetown Visits Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Aug. 19.—H.M.S. Capetown arrived here at 7:30 o'clock last evening from Victoria, and will remain here for several days, after which she will proceed to Comox. Mayor Harrison, members of the City Council, and Harbor Master A. F. Yates boarded the Capetown shortly after her arrival and tendered the freedom of the city to the officers and men. Last evening no shore leave was granted, but today, and during the following days of her visit here, the sailors will be ashore, and will enjoy a programme of entertainment which has been arranged for them.

U.S. Geodetic Survey Progresses Rapidly

Channel Obstructions in Alaska Waters Removed—Radio Experiments Made

SEATTLE, Aug. 19.—The Coast geodetic survey of the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey service is progressing in a highly advantageous manner in southeastern Alaska waters, but has been impeded by heavy storms in the West, was the report received here today by Captain E. B. Derickson, supervisor for this district and Alaska.

The cutter Surveyor, operating between Sitka and Cross Sound, reports that many channel obstructions have been successfully removed, and particularly in the vicinity of Cape Edwards, hitherto unsurveyed waters.

The cutter Guide has been conducting experiments off the Oregon coast with the radio acoustic sounding method, and the reports to Captain Derickson assert that the exact position of craft was established 60 miles off shore by this method. The method involves the explosion of a submarine bomb by the ship at sea, and the distance from shore is gauged by the return of the sound to the vessel.

The sound travels under the water to an apparatus moored four miles off shore and is transmitted to three radio stations situated twenty miles apart and by them relayed back to the ship.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.
